

Men, Money, Angry Parents Bring About Polio Vaccine

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Men, money and angry parents delivered the technical knockout to polio through the Salk vaccine.

The men — many scientists making discoveries step by step paving the way to a vaccine.

The money—$10 million or more in March of Dimes funds from the public to support this research. To this extent the vaccine is something the American people created.

The parents—angry at the stealthy invisible killer and destroyer of children, determined to extinguish its nerve-consuming fire.

Today the victory is within grasp with a successful vaccine, developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh, a dedicated scientist with incisive mind.

Today the first batches of an improved Salk vaccine are moving from pharmaceutical houses to public health officials and doctors' offices to begin inoculations of some 30 million children or more this spring and summer.

Within hours after the official verdict that the vaccine is up to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralysis, it was licensed by the National Institute of Health for public use.

Dimes contributed to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will pay for enough vaccine for free inoculations of nine million children in all first and second grades and some in third grades. The rest will be administered by doctors to patients, with high priority urged for children and pregnant women.

At last, polio is on the way to defeat, control, eradication.

The victory did not come easily. As with most great achievements of medical science, it built from the minds of many men.

In 1909 Dr. Karl Landsteiner

discovered polio was due to a virus, an infinitesimal disease agent far smaller than bacteria.

Now the cause was known, but no control.

A few years later, polio spread like a conflagration through New York City, striking hard with death and paralysis. Parents fled the cities with their children.

Polio had made its panic known. It came mysteriously and still today science does not know exactly how.

Again and again it flared here and there. It felled adults as well as children. It felled a man destined to become a United States president, Franklin D. Roosevelt. He, like so many others, rose above his handicap, and inspired the March of Dimes. Now money was poured into the search for knowledge.

Little and big facts and new techniques came from many men, by no means all engaged in polio research. They set the stage for four vital findings coming in a rush between 1949 and 1952.

Dr. John F. Enders and associates of Harvard learned how to grow and harvest polio virus from monkey kidney tissue. A large team of researchers learned that only three types of polio virus cause human paralysis.

Dr. Dorothy Horstmann of Yale and Dr. David Bodian of Johns Hopkins found that virus

invades the blood stream before it hits the nerves. Dr. William McD. Hammon of the University of Pittsburgh showed that small amounts of antibodies if present in the blood could disarm the virus.

At Pittsburgh, too, Dr. Salk six years ago began working for a polio vaccine. He built on what had gone before, contributed his own deductions, experiments, solutions, perseverance, to create a safe vaccine against all types of paralyzing virus.

MASS POLIO INOCULATION SET BY OHIO

Oops! Truck Bobbles Cargo

A BIG DRIVEAWAY TRUCK hauling four new Ford cars spilled one of them and damaged two others when the truck left Route 238 just south of Bloomingburg at 8:45 A. M. Wednesday. The driver, Charles D. Chitwood, 30, of Cincinnati, said he heard a noise in the trailer section of his truck. As he turned to look back, the trailer left the road. Soft dirt at the roadside prevented him from bringing his rig back on the road. The trailer ran 130 feet in the ditch, struck a concrete culvert (at extreme left in photo) and bounced back into the road. The impact ripped loose the top ramp of the trailer, throwing the front end of one of the cars to the road and damaging two others. Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur checked the accident and stopped traffic until a wrecker lowered the dangling auto to the pavement and the road was cleared. (Record-Herald photo)

Probe of Dulles-Corsi Tiff Scheduled By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kilgore (D-WV) said today he agrees there should be an inquiry by Congress into operations of the Refugee Relief Act, as demanded by Edward J. Corsi and promised by Sen. Langer (R-ND).

Langer announced last night that a Judiciary subcommittee on immigration which he heads will "conduct a full and complete" inquiry to see how the program is working. He said he hoped to work out detailed plans at a subcommittee meeting this afternoon.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), meanwhile, asked Secretary of State Dulles to explain security aspects of his ouster of Corsi as a State Department adviser on refugee problems.

Red Cross Campaign Is To Be Pressed Here

With the Red Cross campaign still at least $2,800 from its goal of 9,200 and Fayette County, thus in imminent danger of losing its right to participate in the blood program, the Red Cross chapter board and campaign leaders today were asking the solicitors to make another appeal for funds.

Don Wood, the president of the chapter here, said he and other campaign heads felt there was a possibility that some had not been solicited during the campaign and that these probably would make contributions if they are called on now, especially if they realize what a serious blow it would be to the community to be dropped from the Red Cross blood bank.

He said also that it was agreed at the meeting that many of those who have contributed already would increase their contributions when they see loss of the Red Cross services as a probability.

The chapter board was concerned over the failure of the campaign and made no secret of it. One said "people just don't seem to realize the seriousness of the situation. They don't seem to realize how much the Red Cross means to the people of the community."

It is a little early for lawn mowing, but the first clipping of the one at the Post Office was made Monday where the grass was really requiring attention as result of spring-like weather and an abundance of rain the past month.

I notice that there is a lack of the usual crop of dandelions on some lawns where they formerly were abundant, due in part to persistent removal of them with the aid of implements and also application of DDT or some other weed killer.

With a few more warm days, pushing the lawn mower for the season will be necessary (it can never be too popular) to keep pace with the growth of the grass and what have you.

Speaking of the dandelions, that reminds me that the weed, golden blossoms of which are really beautiful, is found throughout North America, Europe and Asia, and where it is not controlled, it will just about wipe out lawns, pastures and other growth.

Grand Jury Report Correction Made

In the report of the grand jury action carried in Tuesday's Record-Herald, the name of Robert D. Smith was erroneously listed as one of those whose cases were ignored by the grand jury.

The name should have been Kenneth VanDyke. He was charged with intent to commit rape, but the case was ignored by the grand jury.

First Step In Improvement Starts Monday

Distribution System Of Water Company To Be Protected

The Ohio Water Service Company will start, probably next Monday, on the first step in the extensive overall program of improvements which it plans to push to the earliest possible completion.

The company announced today that this first move in the general construction job will require considerable digging in the city streets in placing its water distribution system in the best possible condition to be ready to isolate sections of the city, to enable it to give service if and when a any emergency disaster should strike here.

It was stated that the company will immediately install a series of large valves in the distribution system so that it will be possible to pump water from any one of three separate stations in case both other stations are forced to shut down.

O. D. Farquhar, local manager for the company, said this will make possible the serving of a large part of the city under adverse conditions as a protection against a complete shutdown.

FARQUHAR asserted that the company hopes that such a condition never will be necessary and that the newly installed valves will never have to be used, but that the company desires to be ready in case of such an emergency.

The new control valves will be installed with water pressure maintained, he said. Excavations will be of considerable size in streets where there will be much traffic and the company will use every safety precaution but hopes that the motoring public will help it guard against accidents.

The street work will be done by the A. P. Smith Company of East Orange, New Jersey, specialists in this line.

This is the beginning of the construction program which will include the building of the new 200,000-gallon reservoir and a complete new water service plant. Work on these projects is expected to start within a few weeks.

Farquhar said that all the necessary surveying and similar preliminary work relative to the locations for the new plant and reservoir has been completed. The new plant will include complete filtering and softening facilities and will be connected with the reservoir by a 16 inch transmission pipe line 2,200 feet in length.

Kilgore, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he favors "liberalization" of the act under which Congress authorized special admission into this country of 214,000 refugees by 1956. Corsi has said only 1,000 have come in the last 16 months.

Kilgore said he thinks there ought to be an investigation of the law's operations.

Thousands of Bugs Squashed On City Streets During Night

During Tuesday night thousands of diving beetles, a variety of "water bugs," were crushed under wheels of traffic on the uptown streets, chiefly on Fayette and Main Streets between East and Court Streets.

Indications are that the diving beetles, which are oval in shape, about an inch long, rather than through the body, black in color and with wings, came from the sewers.

Apparently there were tens of thousands of the beetles in this area during the night and only a small part of them were crushed by vehicles.

New Schedule To Be Set Up Here for Polio Vaccinations

A new schedule for the polio vaccinations for the children of the first and second grades of the city and county schools is to be set up by the county's Health Department as soon as new recommendations are received from the state Department of Health.

This was revealed Wednesday morning by Miss Gretchen Darlington, the senior nurse of the department, after she, Dr. N. A. Dyer, the health commissioner, and two other staff nurses, Mrs. Robert Wientjes and Mrs. John Richards, attended a district meeting in Columbus Tuesday night about nine hours after the official approval of Salk vaccine had been announced dramatically.

At that meeting, the physicians, nurses and health commissioners were told through a closed television circuit from the University of Michigan by Dr. Jonas Salk and Dr. Thomas Francis that the immunization was more effective when the second of the three-shot treatment is administered from three to four weeks after the first one and the third and last shot from seven to ten months after the second.

Originally, all three shots had been tentatively scheduled to be given within about five weeks; that was the plan, not only here, but throughout the country, for this mass inoculation of first and second graders is on a nationwide scale.

Miss Darlington said she was keeping in touch with Dr. Dyer Wednesday by telephone. He was in his Chillicothe office, she explained, because he serves as the health commissioner for both Fayette and Ross counties.

She said, too, that Dr. Dyer and the nurses had agreed after the Tuesday night meeting in Columbus, that a new schedule of vaccinations would have to be set up. However, she added, it would not be done until recommendations

Last Of Triplets Born Here March 5 Dies In Columbus

The last of three triplet girls born in Memorial Hospital here March 5 is dead.

Marlene Holloway, died at Children's Hospital in Columbus at 9 A. M. Tuesday. The first triplet, Berlanda Sue, died in the hospital here shortly after birth and Darlene, the second of the tiny sisters, died March 31.

The only other set of triplets born in Memorial Hospital was born in 1951 to Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Ferguson of Washington C. H. One of them failed to survive.

Surviving Marlene are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Holloway of Bookwalter; a sister Brenda and brother Ronald.

Service was held Wednesday afternoon and burial was in Fairview Cemetery at Jeffersonville under the direction of the Little Funeral Home.

Miss Darlington said she expected the new schedule would be drawn up before the end of the week.

Ohio Education Board Plan Up For House Vote

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio House of Representatives runs headlong today into one of its roughest floor fights for the 1955 session.

The issue: Shall the state board of education, approved by the voters in 1953, be elected or appointed? The result could be a compromise—a part-elected, part-appointed board.

The all-elected board is backed by the Ohio School Survey Commission as a part of its 16-month study. The all-appointed board was recommended by Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Republican Education Committee Chairman William L. Mahan of Defiance influenced his 23-member committee to back the elected board.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, Logan County Republican, is reported to favor still a third time of board, made up of nine elected members plus four members appointed by the governor.

Whatever the House decision, which certainly will be reached only after hours of debate, it still must be passed by the Senate.

The Senate Highways Committee last night failed to reach an agreement on a bill to recapture for the Legislature the power to set turnpike routes and the authority to issue bonds for future turnpikes. No vote was taken on the controversial measure and Chairman David McK. Ferguson said further hearings would be subject to the call of the chair.

Two witnesses, opposing the attempt to strip the turnpike commission of the authority to issue bonds and relieve the governor of the responsibility for setting the routes of future turnpikes, were heard by the highway committee last night.

The first, Allison C. Neff of Middletown, said the proposed Cincinnati-Conneaut turnpike "is the largest single turnpike in the world" and would be "jeopardized by some of this legislation."

The second, Dennis Murphy of a Columbus bond house, complained that under the proposed bill sponsored by Ferguson:

"The legislative committee set up to control routes and bonds couldn't act within the time required, couldn't sell the bonds required to build turnpikes.

"Prospective bond buyers would demand a test case to determine the constitutionality of the act.

"Turnpike revenue bonds are salable because the operating group has full power; anything that takes away from that power might cause investors to look at such project with a very critical eye.

"Anything in the act which would cause investors to lose confidence in the project would be a very serious thing."

Last night, the House passed a bill to make out-of-state children responsible for the support of their aged parents in Ohio. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill which would require southern Ohio tobacco growers to pay personal income tax only once on each crop of tobacco they grow in Ohio, no matter what the curing or disposal time.

graders in the five elementary schools in Washington C. H. the next day, April 21, were unchanged.

The second shots had been scheduled for April 27 and 28 and the third for May 25 and 26, but these probably will be changed in the light of more recent recommendations by Dr. Salk, the discoverer of the vaccine, and Dr. Francis, of the University of Michigan College of Medicine.

However, it was emphasized that even the starting dates are tentative and depend largely on whether the Salk vaccine is received by that time and whether the physicians can fit the schedule to their plans.

But, the schools are ready for the vaccinations any time the Department of Health gives the word.

Information about the Salk vaccine, its purpose and probable reactions had been given to the parents first. Pamphlets describing the program designed to end the menace of paralytic polio were sent home by the pupils and it also was described at Parent-Teacher meetings.

The last step was to send "consent blanks" home by the boys and girls. Through these the parents gave their consent for the vaccinations. This is a voluntary program, it was made plain, and a few of the parents refused permission for the vaccination.

The shots are to be administered by teams of one physician, two private nurses, a Health Department nurse and three or four volunteers, probably mothers from the Parent-Teacher groups, to help keep order among the children.

Four vaccination centers have been set up for the county schools—at Good Hope, Bloomingburg, Jeffersonville and Chaffin schools—and three in Washington C. H.—at Eastside, Sunnyside and Central Schools. Children in the other schools are to be taken to one of these schools for their shots.

Unseen Bombers Drone Overhead For 15 Minutes

That loud drone you heard overhead for about 15 minutes at mid-morning Wednesday was nothing to be concerned about.

You can take the word of a spokesman at Lockbourne Air Base near Columbus that all that noise from above the clouds came from just 12 B-47 bombers of the Strategic Air Command.

When calls started coming into the Record-Herald news room at 10 o'clock (while the drone was continuing), a query was made to the Associated Press bureau in Columbus.

After about ten minutes, the Associated Press called back to say that an officer at the Lockbourne Air Base had said "it's just routine," and went on to explained that Washington C. H. is considered in a "danger area" and part of what was described as a "high training area."

Wennesday morning, the informant said the B-47s were starting at 40,000 feet and practicing "low approaches" on Wright-Patterson Air Base near Dayton.

How it was possible for just 12 bomber to continue that virtually uninterrupted droning for nearly 15 minutes remained a mystery... especially to those here who cocked their ears and strained their eyes for the heard but unseen planes high above the clouds.

The reports said the bombers were from Lockbourne Air Base.

440,540 Kids In Ohio Said To Be Eligible

First Vaccine Shipment Expected To Reach State By Monday

COLUMBUS (AP)—With a powerful new weapon, Ohio's health workers today moved to conquer polio, vicious enemy of children.

The Salk polio vaccine yesterday was announced successful. Immediately state health workers planned for mass inoculations of youngsters.

Health authorities said 440,540 Ohio school children are eligible for the shots. About 90 per cent of their parents are expected to sign consent cards for the injection of the preventative.

The deadly, crippling polio season begins in late spring and extends through summer.

The first shots of vaccine will probably be in the arms of the eligible youngsters by the end of this month.

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, director of the Ohio health department, said the first shipment of $1,762,600 in vaccine to Ohio may arrive by next Monday.

DR. CARL A. Wilzbach, Cincinnati health commissioner, hopes his department can start giving shots next Monday, with the second dose coming the week of May 23. He wants to give the inoculations in close series, so as not to "lose" individuals.

Dr. H. H. Williams, Dayton health commissioner, said he will insist on booster shots for the 6,693 Montgomery County children who got real shots last year in the extensive test run.

The Ohio health chief said commercial drug makers have set aside some vaccine for use of those not eligible for the free inoculations.

The vaccine, supplied free by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will go to local health departments through six Ohio distribution points: Columbus, Dayton, Bowling Green, Cuyahoga Falls and Athens.

ELIGIBLE youngsters include first and second graders in public, private and parochial schools, except those in Richland and Montgomery counties who received actual vaccine in 1954 field tests.

Polio researchers say 7,921 Ohio children got Salk polio vaccine last year and only three contracted the disease—one of them the paralytic kind.

The three all were from Montgomery County where 6,693 got the serum, while in Richland County, where 1,228 got the vaccine, no cases were reported.

Findings indicated 6,836 Montgomery County children got dummy shots, and of those six contracted paralytic polio and two the nonparalytic variety.

In a study of 12,747 youngsters in Montgomery County given no inoculations, two cases each of paralytic and non-paralytic polio were reported.

Partial or mixed injections were administered to 500 Montgomery County test subjects, from which no polio cases were noted.

Inoculations of 1,234 Richland County youngsters with dummy shots were made and four polio cases reported, three of them paralytic.

No injections were given to 4,042 of which one paralytic case was noted. No polio was reported in 29 children given partial or mixed injections.

THE ORIGINAL Ohio health department schedule for the vaccinations calls for the first inoculation to follow the first by one week, with a third inoculation to follow the second by four weeks.

But yesterday, Dr. Jonas Salk at Ann Arbor, Mich., urged children (Please Turn to Page Two)

this year be given only two shots of vaccine now in order to step up the effectiveness. He said the shots should be spaced two to four weeks apart with the third one delayed for at least seven months afterward.

The department said today it was aware of Dr. Salk's recommendation, but that it is still under study by national advisory committees which are expected to pass on them.

Until that time, Ohio will "stand pat" on its present schedule with the knowledge that the national committee recommendations will be available before second inoculations are scheduled.

Hoover Commission Still Keeps Trying

Members of the Hoover Commission on the Organization of the Executive Branch of the government, usually in close agreement, have split sharply over the report urging sharp curtailment of federal lending services in favor of private interests. The seven - to - five division is reason enough to cause speculation over the prospects of many of these latest proposals being put into effect.

As in past reports the commission points to a tremendous saving as possible if its recommendations are carried out. This is estimated at more than $200 million annually. In addition, there is the prospect of chopping an estimated $7 billion off the national debt.

The federal agencies which the commission majority held should be modified to varying extents deal with almost every phase of American life — business, agriculture, veterans' affairs, and colleges. Some of these services are suggested for liquidation, others for merging with private enterprise, and still more for reduced functions and changes in rates and fees which would enable them to pay their own way.

Some idea of the volume of government activity in the lending markets is given in the disclosure that at the close of the fiscal year, there were 104 federal agencies in lending, guaranteeing, and insuring activities involving $244 billion.

The wide split among the commission members — the minority included Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., and

James A. Farley among others — is in a measure a reflection of the division of opinion among all people on how deeply the government should be involved in business.

The agencies mentioned in the report do not have their roots in any one governmental period. Many were products of the New Deal, a few others are from the time of the Hoover Administration, and very few go back to 1913.

What is puzzling is how the government has been able to find reason to create more than a hundred lending agencies engaged in activities involving almost a quarter of a trillion dollars.

It does seem that some pruning at the federal level is in order.

Soviets Far Behind

The recent speech by Britain's Churchill, making it clear Communist military strength has been overrated and American strength underrated, is having an important effect all over the world. Realization is dawning in many foreign capitals that this country has quietly built up sufficient military strength to destroy any nation or group of nations which dare attack it. Knowing this, Churchill and other world leaders are not fearful of another big war any time soon. Despite rumors and reports to the contrary, the Soviet Union is far behind the United States in the atomic-weapons race. The same is true as to the development of guided missiles.

Egypt Now In Transition

By Hal Boyle

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt is in transition, proud of its mighty past but anxious to cure its old poverty by turning to new ways.

Abraham Noman is as good a human symbol as any of the slow changes that are bringing fresh hope of better times for this ancient land.

Abraham is a 6-foot, 195-pound, 29-year-old bedouin, whose fierce ancestors once roamed the desert.

Some bedouins, a proud and independent people, still roam the desert and live in tents. Others have compromised with civilization and come to town to live. Abraham is a town bedouin.

"My great grandfather was the last in our family to live in a tent," he said. "The desert bedouins have no education. They are ignorant."

Abraham's family has done pretty well, all things considered, since coming to town. Abraham himself is a servant in famous Mena House, an old-fashioned sprawling hotel near the pyramids at Giza.

Most of those whose needs Abraham tends are tourists, and many of them have been famous. They often laugh and make jokes when they first see Abraham. He does look odd to them in his small skullcap and long nightgown garb, like a figure out of the Arabian nights.

Abraham patiently smiles

through their laughter. He probably thinks tourists look odd, too, but he is too polite and gentle to show it. He likes tourists because he can learn from them.

"I had but nine years of schooling," he said, "and whenever I hear a new word I like to find out what it means."

Abraham waited on a number of us visiting newsmen here. He turned out to be about our best friend in Egypt. Sometimes you can learn as much about real life in a strange country from the guy who presses your pants as you can from one of its politicians.

All of us who jested among ourselves at Abraham on sight, came to admire him for his kindness, his dependability in doing his duty, his intelligence, and his complete sense of personal dignity.

Abraham Noman doesn't know where his last name comes from, but thinks it probably was facetiously given to one of his ancestors a few generations back by a British officer. In any case, he now likes it.

Here is Abraham's self-portrait in his own words: "My father and I lived the same. But my father lives better than his father did."

"There are nine of us in my family—my father and mother, my wife and myself, my one brother, our three children, and a servant. The servant is a boy of 12 who does the marketing. He is a poor boy without a family. We took him with us because he had no one to play with. We pay him a small amount each month.

"My father was a dragoman, an interpreter. I earn 120 pounds a year (about $344).

"But we have bought a house with nine rooms. My father and mother come first in my life. They will until my last day. Without them I would never know life.

"In some homes the man does first what his wife says, before his father and his mother. I think that is bad.

"Yes, I am happy living in Egypt. It is my luck to be a servant. I cannot turn it back. I do not get angry working for others. When I feel sorry, I pray to the gods.

"But I want my children to be better than me.

"My children are all right. They are good. I hope they go to school for a long time and grow up to be judges or army officers. I would prefer them to be officers, but only if there are no more wars."

Abraham Noman said he thought life in Egypt was getting better for people in his position. When I asked him if he had a grudge against this world, he spread his big palms wide, smiled, and said:

"I am content in myself. What now may I do for you?"

Greatest Writer In America

By George Sokolsky

Albert E. Kahn, the Matusow publisher, who during recent hearings before the Eastland Committee, on several occasions, knows, beyond peradventure, that he is an important American writer. This is his own evaluation of his work:

"... the comment I want to make on this particular matter is that 'The Great Conspiracy' was a book which was very widely published, which published and very widely read in the United States, a book to which Senator Claude Pepper wrote the introduction, and I believe had a circulation of more than a quarter of a million here.

"I think it important for the Committee to recognize the fact that this book was not merely read elsewhere in the world but also read widely in the United States and, according to Barron's Financial Weekly, was a book that was stimulating and informative reading, and according to Newsweek Magazine, a book extremely worth reading."

He received royalties from 25 or 30 countries where his book was widely circulated. I have read "The Great Conspiracy" and put it down as a hodge-podge of communist propaganda, mostly taken out of already published material. Kahn says his book sold in the millions, which is astonishing because it would be difficult to find many Americans who read it or remembered it.

Albert Kahn took the Fifth Amendment to the question of his being a communist, but he made an interesting statement on the subject and I give you this colloquy:

"Mr. Kahn, I understand that many people have been attacked for using the Fifth Amendment. I would simply say this, Senator: That he who attacks me for using the Fifth Amendment does not slander me but slanders the Constitution of the United States.

"The chairman, of course, that is the ground that communists use when they don't want to state whether or not they are a communist.

"Mr. Kahn, You mean, only communists use the Constitution?"

When Kahn became a publisher, he naturally sought capital. He found it, by one means or another principally from the following communists: unions.

"... the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union, the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, the Fur Workers Union. Those are some of the unions."

The financing was done in the following manner, and I quote Kahn on the subject:

"... well, on orders for 2 books which I recall there was an advance payment for 20,000 copies, 10,000 of each book, an advance payment at the wholesale price of 50 cents — they were in the paper editions, these books — from the United Electrical Worker, and 20,000 copies at 50 cents would be $5,000 on each of two books.

Diet and Health

When Baby Is Sick He Needs Attention

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

When your baby is ill, you're going to have a lot of work.

If he has diarrhea, for example, you'll be busy feeding him a good portion of the day. He'll keep you busy in other ways, too.

Diarrhea in a baby six months old or so ordinarily is a sign to stop giving him solid food. I think it's also usually best to stop his orange juice and cod-liver oil.

Plenty of Liquids

But he can't do without all liquids and this is where you'll have to keep hoping to see that he's properly supplied. He should get skimmed, boiled milk at his regular feeding times. In addition, he must get plenty of lukewarm boiled water or lukewarm weak tea. Give him all of the water or tea he will drink. Offer this to him every hour! If he's sleeping peacefully, however, it's wisest not to wake him.

Now, as if this schedule isn't keeping you busy enough, there are a couple of other things you might give him.

Offer him one or two teaspoons of mashed ripe banana or scraped raw apple every couple of hours. By ripe banana I mean one with a yellow skin covered with small dark spots. The banana is not ripe enough if any part of the skin is green or if it contains no brown spots.

Scraped Raw Apple

As for preparing the scraped raw apple, first wash it in clean water. Peel it and then scrape it. Use a clean spoon or, better still, grate it with a clean grater. Allow the scrapings to stand until they turn brown.

As your baby gets better and the diarrhea begins to clear up, gradually start giving him his regular foods.

Give him his cereals first, then the orange juice and cod-liver oil. Next you can resume his cooked vegetables and, finally, you can give him his fruits.

Then you're back in the old routine again — with plenty of time on your hands. Oh yeah?

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. A. L.: I am troubled with gout. What causes it and what can be done to give you relief?

Answer: Gout is a disorder of the metabolism in which uric acid is retained in the body, there are also attacks of acute inflammation in the joints due to the depositing of salts of uric acid in this disease, as is alcohol. Overeating without exercise is often a cause. Worry and slight injuries may produce attacks.

The treatment of gout consists in temperate living, the use of low purin diet, and abstinence from alcohol. The new drugs, cortisone and ACTH, have been found quite helpful in treating this condition.

Cheap Power Proposal Explodes

Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—A major New Deal experiment in cheap public power and rural electrification has exploded in the faces of unhappy Eisenhower administrators. It is a problem based on faulty promises, economics and politics, and it does not stand alone.

The dilemma confronting conscientious Ancher Nelsen, rural electrification administrator, involves the Santee-Cooper water-power project in South Carolina and the 350 miles of lines that carry its electricity to 80,000 farmers.

It results from the fact that the Central Electric Power Cooperative, which built these lines with a $13.6 million loan from REA, cannot meet its payments to Uncle Sam without a raise in rates which the farmer cannot pay.

PERPLEXING — The practical and businesslike solution for private business and industry would be for the two public agencies involved to base their rate schedules on prices which would enable them to return a profit and to remain solvent. But that would repudiate Roosevelt-Truman pledges that their public power program would light up the countryside at bargain prices.

It would wreck an honest investment in equipment which rural consumers have made in good faith. Finally, farmers are voters—80,000 of them in this instance. Ike does not feel that he can let them down, even though he is not responsible for their current difficulties.

The Santee-Cooper hydroelectric project was one of Harold L. Ickes' favorite schemes, for he wanted to disprove charges that only the Far West was benefitting from his public power theories. He advanced PWA funds to finance the undertaking, which harnesses the waters of the Santee and Cooper Rivers above Charleston.

FINANCES — South Carolina created a state authority to operate the plant, and will eventually own it, although it still owes about $29 million to the federal government and $15 million to Wall Street bankers. In a complicated arrangement, the authority leases the Central Co-op's lines for transmission of power. The Authority's payments to the co-op are supposed to enable the latter body to pay off its borrowings from REA.

When the authority recently encountered financial difficulties, which are now being investigated by a South Carolina legislative committee, it notified the co-op that it would have to charge 7.2 mills instead of 6 mills per kilowatt hour. Since this would be a grave hardship to the co-op's members, with many unable to pay the increase, the co-op turned to Administrator Nelsen.

After prolonged negotiations which still are not concluded, the co-op has asked Nelsen if he would grant a three-year deferment on repayment of its loans to REA. If granted this moratorium, the authority and the co-op believe that they can keep the cost of electricity to the farmers at 6.4 instead of 7.2 mills, an increase of only four-tenths of a mill.

ACCIDENT? — Administrator Nelsen will—must, he feels—reluctantly consent, although he insists on terms that will protect his $13.6 million in loans to the co-op.

Whether the revision will enable the authority to pay off its obligations to the government is not his affair. Another federal agency—General Services Administration—has the responsibility for collecting the $29 million owed to Uncle Sam by the state authority.

By design or accident, New Deal sponsors of this project arranged that the repayment crisis would fall on non-Truman time. Although the REA loan is dated Jan. 1, 1950, it was stipulated that the co-op's first $209,000 payment should not fall due until Jan. 1, 1955. The three-year deferment begins with this payment.

Brandenburg Is Rotary Speaker For Auto Week

Tells of Industry's Advance - What It Has Meant Locally

Ray Brandenburg acting as spokesman for the eight automobile dealers of this city who are cooperating in the national "Spotlight on Automobiles" week, was the featured speaker before Rotarians and guests at the regular club luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Presented for his vocational talk by President George Finley, Brandenburg made the most of this opportunity by offering facts and figures relative to the motor car industry which proved interesting and highly informative to his hearers.

HE CALLED attention to the fact that the automobile business was highly important as an economic factor, not only in the nation, but in Fayette County as well. He stated that this "spotlight on automobiles" week was not to focus attention on the individuals in the business except as to their part as automobile dealers.

Brandenburg pointed out how a little more than a half century ago there were less than 5,000 automobiles in the country whereas in 1953 there were approximately 38,000,000 cars in service, with a car being sold today every 12 seconds. This, he said, means that cars are being manufactured more rapidly than the population grows.

What the industry means to the national economy, the speaker mentioned, is that one out of every seven people gainfully employed in this country, have some employed connection with the motor car industry.

IN FAYETTE COUNTY, Brandenburg said, there are more than 125 people employed in connection in some capacity with the automobile business with pay checks aggregating more than $500,000 annually. In addition to this over $165,000 per year is paid out by dealers in Fayette County for supplies and advertising.

He also called attention to the activities of the many individuals in this county, in connection with the industry, who play a prominent and active part in community life in various capacities and associations. "Over 137 pints of blood were donated last year in Fayette County by people identified with the automobile business", he stated.

That the auto has played a leading role in the revolution of this country's industrial and social life, the speaker said, was because it has made great forward strides in advancing mobility and mobility has been a factor in freedom and our high standard of living.

It is predicted, Brandenburg declared, that by 1970 there will be 80,000,000 cars on our streets and highways which means the creation of thousands of new jobs to be shared by every community. He also pointed out predictions of new and improved highways with automatic control of speed and lights, which will be a part of this great increase in mobile facilities.

In closing, the speaker gave the public credit for the growth of this industry which has meant mutual growth and prosperity for the people as a whole.

President George Finley warmly thanked Brandenburg for his excellent presentation of his subject and for the valuable data he had given. He further declared that the fine cooperation of automobile dealers, mentioned by the speaker, was right in line with the principles of Rotary.

PREVIOUS TO the program feature, the club sang birthday greeting for Belford Carpenter, Ansel Kirk and W. J. Hilly, all of whom contributed to the club's youth fund.

President Finley called attention to the return of Stanley Schneider and Ansel Kirk from Florida and welcomed them to the meeting.

William F. Foster an insurance man from Scranton, Pa., was the only visiting Rotarian. Other guests were Ned Abbott with Walter Seifried, Dr. Frank King with Dr. Robert Woodmansee and Dale Ward with Ray Brandenburg.

Lakeview Ave. Work Progresses

Big Improvement Is At Small Cost

Work of tearing up, regrading, applying stone and rolling Lakeview Avenue its entire length, is moving forward rapidly, and the street will be an entirely different thoroughfare when it is completed a little later with a heavy application of liquid asphalt and stone chips.

Considerable new metal is being applied to place the street in proper condition for the final shot of asphalt and application of stone chips.

It will be recalled that a movement was launched to rebuild Lakeview Avenue, a few years ago, at a cost of about $36,000, but the assessments were so high that the project was opposed by many on the street.

Now residents of the street are receiving a very durable street for approximately $1,000 cost to the city.

County Engineer Charles Wagner has assisted the city with the use of some county equipment which has meant much in conditioning the street.

City Manager James F. Parkinson asks the public to use caution in passing over the street until it is completed, and has left the street open for traffic while the work is underway.

New Store Here To Open Friday

Sanderson Remodels His Harness Shop

Robert S. Sanderson announced today the grand opening of the new Sanderson Hardware Store will be held Friday and Saturday. Completely remodeled with a new modern tile and glass front, the room has taken on a new look.

The inside has been completely redecorated, new shelving and display cases have been put in. New electric light fixtures are in their places and a modern tile floor has been laid.

Sanderson's Harness Shop which formerly was the business name was opened 60 years ago by the father of the present owner in 1895.

Harness sales and repairs were offered from this room by Robert S. Sanderson until his death in March 1952.

Since that time, his son Robert S. Sanderson has operated the business, with the original services of harness repair and sales being featured.

Several years ago a housewares department was opened. It included a wide selection of gift items for the home. This department has been under the management of Miss Metta Graves.

In making the announcement today of the new addition to the present luggage, toy, harness and gift items long carried in the store Sanderson said:

"We are venturing into a new business line for East Court Street. It has been asked of us many times in past years to increase the merchandise in our store. So, after careful consideration we have added a complete line of Hardware goods. Each item we carry in stock will be of national advertised brands. It is our plan to service the people of this community with the best merchandise possible."

Sanderson said today "we will still offer our service of harness and other item repairs" as was started by his father 60 years ago.

Vital Answers Given About Polio Vaccine

When Will Important
Shots Be Available?
What Will They Cost?

ANN ARBOR (AP)—With the announcement today that the Salk polio vaccine was safe and effective came the answers to several questions which the general public has been asking concerning the vaccine. They are:

How much vaccine is available and when can it be expected to be used?

The vaccine must first be approved and licensed by the National Institutes of Health. That should come very quickly; vaccinations could start in some places in two weeks or less, in others as early as April 18.

Enough vaccine for up to 30 million complete courses (each course consisting of three shots) is being produced by six drug firms.

Some nine million vaccinations will be supplied free by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis (at a cost of $9 million in March of Dimes monies) to offer free shots for all children in the first and second grades of all public parochial and private schools in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii.

The free vaccine will also be offered to children in third grades who took part in the big mass testing.

The rest will be sold by the drug firms for administration by doctors to private patients.

What will it cost?

One firm is selling three shots of vaccine for $4.20; others have announced prices slightly higher. On top of that will be the doctors' fee for administering it.

Priority?

Several medical societies urged the vaccine go first to children aged 1 through the first grade with the second highest priority to children of ages through the fifth grade and thirdly to pregnant women. The aim is to hit polio hardest by inoculating those most susceptible. No particular controls have been announced as to how this commercial vaccine would be distributed.

Adults?

A vaccine successful in children would be successful in adults. Adults have less need for it. By about age 18, most of us have been exposed already to one or more of the three dangerous types of virus and have become immune.

What is the vaccine?

A red liquid containing billions of dead viruses, of all three types, which can cause paralysis in humans. The killed viruses cannot cause sickness, but can stimulate the receiver to make antibodies. The vaccine has been triple-tested for safety and for potency.

How long does it protect?

Only time can answer. There are hopes it might be for years, perhaps requiring occasional booster shots.

Why Did Communists Wait To Return Greek Youths?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Foreign News Analyst

SALONIKA, Greece (AP)—"Why did they not send us back our children when we asked for them—six or seven years ago?" the Greek official said. "Why are they so anxious now?"

"Perhaps it is because now many of the children are grown up and ready. Perhaps, from the Communist way of thinking, the time has arrived."

The official was discussing with me the grave problem of Greek repatriates from Communist countries, where anywhere from 35,000 to 50,000 Greeks—the majority young people—have been kept since the civil war. The Communists not only have agreed to repatriate some of them now. They seem anxious to send them in large numbers.

"To do the work of the Communist party in Greece, they would require only a relative few," this official continued. "Most of the repatriated people probably still are loyal Greeks. But surely among the young people now there must be many who have been turned into convinced Communists."

Young boys, snatched from their peasant villages in the rugged mountain areas of northern Greece, given special treatment in a big city under ceaseless indoctrination, isolated from all other influences, might well have become convinced in seven years.

General-Hocking Brick Co. Named By NLRB Writ

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today issued an unfair labor practices complaint against the General-Hocking Brick Co. of Logan.

A hearing on the complaint, made by the AFL United Brick and Clay Workers Union, will be held April 26 in Hocking court-house.

The complaint charged the Logan company with interfering with union activities since last July 1 and with refusing to bargain collectively with the union. It charged foremen Rexford D. Teller, Fred R. Courtney and Wayne R. Todd and Supt. Harold W. Larimer with threatening economic reprisal or dismissal against employees for union activity.

It also charged that a strike at the plant started last Sept. 21. It charged a number of employees later sought reinstatement but were turned down.

The 200 repatriates in Kastoria, near the Albanian border, are housed in squalid surroundings in two abandoned schoolhouses. Unanimously they seem to hate the Communists and all their works. They hotly deny there have been any agitators among them, that any among them ever expressed the wish to go back to the Communist lands. But even these people do not want to work in the villages or on the farm any more. They want to head to the cities.

These people represent the first trickle, some 3,700 repatriates. Many of them have now been resettled in villages. They are not the people who cause the Greek authorities the greatest concern. The authorities are wondering about those to come—the youngsters grown to maturity under Communist teaching and isolation.

Northern Greece is a hard, stony land. For young men given special treatment abroad, the return is a shock. The Communists seem to have tried to make sure that the contrast would be felt keenly.

Here in Macedonia, close to the borders of communism, there is concern about the possibility of a future guerrilla nucleus in Greece, usable by the Communists in time of emergency.

At the end of the civil war some 15,000 Red Greek guerrillas fled across the borders to Communist countries. To these, say Macedonian officials, add a fair number of young men trained through their boyhood in communism and wholly under Red influence.

Foresters, game wardens and security forces have been alerted in northern Greece to be on the lookout for Communist agents infiltrating across the Bulgarian and Albanian borders. Several Red leaders who had crossed secretly into Greece with instructions to reorganize the shattered underground party apparatus have already been arrested.

Police Department Clerk Reinstated

CLEVELAND (AP)—Civil Service commissioners voted, 3-0, yesterday to reinstate Miss Rita McCradden, clerk who was fired because police reported Frank Brancato had no record.

The Federal Immigration Service, which had used the report in deciding to allow Brancato to stay in this country, reopened the case after finding the Cleveland department's report was in error.

Miss McCradden told the commission she searched files unsuccessfully for a "Francesco Brancato." The record was under the name of "Frank Brancato."

The report should have shown that Brancato had been convicted of perjury.

Lofty, Hard-Earned Place Is Won By Young Dr. Salk

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Jonas E. Salk, his voice hurried and terse, heard today that his six-year battle against the polio virus had won an initial, startling victory.

The 40-year-old University of Pittsburgh scientist had advance notice of the results of the long-awaited Francis report only hours earlier.

Dr. Salk referred to details of the vaccine report, and then only briefly. He said:

"The way I feel, I can't say anything about that now. I haven't time to talk about the whole thing. After this, there just isn't any time."

His voice was sharp sounding, but the tone was bright. You could almost sense he was fingering his eyeglasses as he stood by the telephone in a University of Michigan residence half a mile away.

A conscientious, careful - working research man, he had just received a report card from his one-time teacher, Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., University of Michigan epidemiologist. Dr. Francis had given him an "A."

But Dr. Salk's prepared talk needed revision. He had prepared it, the most decisive in his young career, long in advance for delivery—this afternoon. Now he had to work again.

He already had set to improving the vaccine. Children who are vaccinated this year, he had determined, would need only two inoculations, against three for last year's test group. A third shot would be given as a booster in 1956.

Everything that Dr. Salk had done was directed for this one golden moment. For a young man it was a lofty and hard-earned place in the ranks of medicine.

But he couldn't wait. His meeting, he explained, was important. He was sorry. He could talk no longer. He said the information was available in the text of his talk. That was all he could say at the moment. His job, after all, was medicine, not publicity.

Extension Personnel Studies Retailing

County Agent W. W. Montgomery and Albert G. Cobb, associate county agent were in Columbus Tuesday with extension agents from Central Ohio counties studying retail marketing.

Korea Vets Eligible
For New Program

A new on-farm training program for Korea War veterans (in service any place during the time of hostilities) is now definitely a part of the Washington C. H. High School service to the community.

While it was approved last month and actually started with 19 enrolled, it was not official until Charles L. McGiff was appointed the instructor by the school board at its regular meeting Monday afternoon.

The course, which is limited to 20 Korea War veterans, is on a 12-month basis and eligible veterans may enroll in March or September. One of the eligibility requirements is 90 days in service with any branch of the armed forces (not necessarily in Korea) and time in service has a bearing on the time of the course.

The course calls for 200 hours

a year off-farm training (mostly classroom) and 100 hours of on-farm training.

That occupied much of the board's time at this meeting, but it did approve withdrawal, at the board's request, of the resignation of Eugene Reaster as a custodian. The board also approved dismissal of classes in the city schools the afternoon of April 29 to permit the teachers to attend the luncheon meeting of the City-County Teachers Association at the Country Club.

A meeting was set for April 19 at which time the board is to go over all teacher contracts for the coming year.

Payments of bills and the regular payroll amounting to $30,065 was authorized.

'Give Children Priority' To Vaccine, Doctor Urges

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — "Give the children priority" in getting the Salk polio vaccine, Dr. Dwight H. Murray, chairman of the American Medical Assn.'s board of trustees, urged today.

Dr. Murray, of Napa, Calif., held announcement of the success of the polio vaccine as "one of the greatest events in the history of medicine."

He urged parents not to rush to doctors' offices for shots for themselves because most adults probably already are immune from earlier, nonrecognized exposures to the disease.

"While doctors who administer the vaccine in their own offices have to pay for it," Dr. Murray said, "there is no reason why any patient has to be denied the vaccine for financial reasons."

Dr. Murray said that many medical societies throughout the country have, with the aid of state and local health officers, worked out orderly plans for the administration of the vaccine. He said: "The American people can be assured that the thousands of practicing physicians in cities, towns and hamlets will give their wholehearted cooperation to get the program under way as effectively and safely as is humanly possible."

Dr. Murray said the family physician can best serve the children.

"After all," he said, "it is the doctor the family always calls who is best qualified to judge whether or not to administer the vaccine; it is the family physician who can spot the individual differences, and it is the family physician who is alert to possible dangers that may exist for children with allergies and other maladies."

Auto Dealers Play Big Role In Community

New car and new truck dealers in Washington C. H. have a combined annual payroll of $409,480 that is spread among 111 men and women, figures compiled for the observance of "National Spotlight on Automobiles Week" reveal.

Of the 111 on the dealers' payrolls, 57 are members of churches and 25 belong to clubs.

These new car and truck dealers, the figures show, spend a total of $163,635 annually for supplies and advertising, exclusive of payrolls, and pay community, state and federal taxes amounting to $20,653 a year.

A total of $53,130 is contributed to charities through the dealerships and individual employees, the summary shows.

The Chamber of Commerce in a prepared statement said the new car and truck dealers "are an essential part of our economic system and have done much to improve living and working conditions here."

The statement also points out that "the service departments, manned by experts and equipped with precision tools and machinery, guarantees the workmanship to keep the community rolling smoothly on wheels."

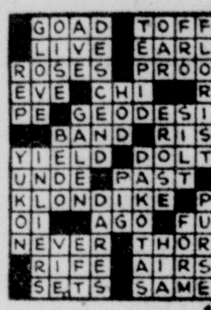

It also points out that the new car and truck dealers "have a big investment in the community—an investment in buildings, parts and accessories and equipment as well as an investment in good will built up through the years."

Dulles Charged With Boo-Boo In Corsi Case

Firing His 'Old Friend' Seen As Move To Get Along With Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles appeared today to have committed a potentially costly political boo-hoo in the Edward J. Corsi case.

Ironically, he may have been motivated by an eagerness to get along with Democrats in Congress, specifically with Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), who had tangled bitterly with Corsi.

Dulles terminated his "old friend" Corsi's employment as special assistant in charge of speeding immigration of European refugees after Walter said Corsi had once belonged to groups later tagged as subversive. Corsi disputed that. He said his support for leral immigration policies was responsible for Walter's opposition to him.

Corsi announced yesterday he will not accept a "consolation prize" job offered him by Dulles—that of surveying the possibility of settling some immigrants in Latin America.

CORSI IS A veteran GOP officeholder in New York state. The political implications were pointed up by the public plea of Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall that Corsi continue to serve the Eisenhower team.

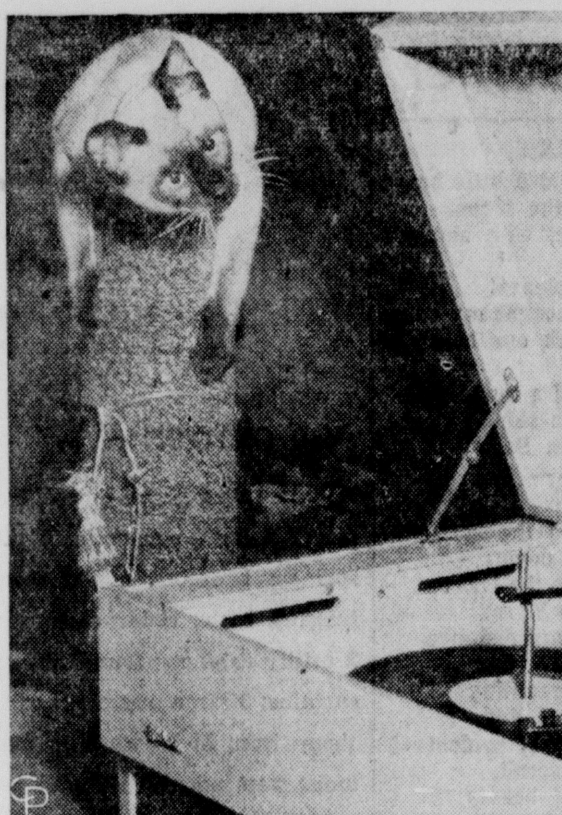

Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York jumped into the matter by saying he had offered Corsi sometime ago a job on the State Refugee Commission.

Arriving in New York from a Florida vacation, Harriman said: "I think it's utterly outrageous and disgraceful, whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, that a man is fired just because someone makes an allegation against him after he has held office for 25 years as a public servant."

In a bitterly worded letter to Dulles rejecting the substitute post, Corsi called the administration's refugee program a "scandalous failure" with fewer than 1,000 admitted to this country in 16 months.

He said it had been sabotaged by "an intolerant minority both in Congress and within the department itself."

"I cannot believe that if Mr. Walter can compel my retirement from the refugee relief program before my work has even begun that similar attacks may not result in a similar unexpected severance from my new assignment," he wrote Dulles. "I have no intention of putting this probability to the test."

He blamed what he called sabotage of the program to admit 214,000 refugees by 1956 on "the people who wrote the law, including Congressman Walter himself, and the people in the State Department who are administering the program."

Security Chief R. W. Scott McLeod handles the program for the department. There was no comment from McLeod.

Government Eyes Polio Shot License

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's decision on whether to license the Salk polio vaccine for general use will be made promptly.

Results of the evaluation of the 1954 nationwide field trials of the vaccine among thousands of children were announced Tuesday.

Officials of the Department of Health and Welfare said they have an observer there who will make his own appraisal as to whether he believes the results justify a recommendation that the vaccine be licensed for general use.

Quail Hunting Is Urged Here

Fish and Game Meet Monday Attracts 40

More than 40 Fayette County fishermen and hunters turned out Monday evening for an open hearing on fish and game laws, and came up with a pair of recommendations on the game bird laws.

The group went on record as being in favor of the bill, currently under consideration of the Ohio House, to remove hunting restrictions on quail and to leave seasons and bag limits up to the Wildlife Council.

The other recommendation made by the group was that the state be divided into two zones for duck hunting, with a later season in the southern part of the state.

Two sportsmen and two farmers were elected to represent the county at the state hearing to be held in Chillicothe. The farmers are Lowell Marvin and Glenn Smith; the sportsmen, Dr. Fred Woolard and Herbert Reese.

THE OPEN meeting was held in the Farm Bureau auditorium right after the regular monthly meeting of the Fish and Game Association. Business of the Association's meeting included announcement by Frank Boylan, the president, that a bill to change present laws on sale and possession of firearms had died in committee in the state Senate.

Irvin Patrick, game protector here told members a nearby creek had been diverted, stranding hundreds of fish in the cut-off section. Members voted to buy a seine to catch the fish so they can be moved to a "live" section of the creek and to assist in the fish-moving job.

The business meeting was cut short to allow the open hearing to begin.

First business of the hearing was a discussion of the bill to end protection of quail. Patrick said that Wildlife Council has made "an extensive study" of the quail situation in the state and "should be qualified to handle the situation well."

Guests at the hearing included Ted Oerholser, law enforcement officer for the state Division of Wildlife, Leon Webb of the game management section and Donald Tennet of the fish management section.

ANNEX

Sometime we'll build a little house
Out there among the trees,
And paint it white, with shutters
green,
As saucy as you please!
And, as an after thought my dear,
Just when we think our house is done,
We might even add a nursery,
A facin' toward the sun.
Helen Betts

DAWN

The sun has kissed the horizon
Into a blush-pink dawn,
Bird notes comprise the chorus
Of a "Symphony to Morn."
Across yon easterward distance
A fragile lilac haze,
Yields its drowsy dreaming
To the eloquence of day.
The Master's touch is evident
In this impressive scroll,
And its enthralling beauty
Is elixir for the soul.

Tennis and Golf Matches Lost By WHS Teams Tuesday Afternoon

Two out of four WHS teams got into action Tuesday afternoon.

The golf and tennis teams both lost close decisions, the linksmen to Circleville by a score of 6-10 and the racket and net crew to Dayton Chaminade, 2-3.

The baseball team, slated against Hillsboro, there, lost out to the wet diamond. The game will be played Friday as the first half of a double-header. This time, the Indians will be coming here to play on the Circle Avenue diamond.

The fourth Lion team, the track team, meets Frankfort, and Hillsboro Wednesday (today) in a triangular meet at Gardner Park. The field events begin at 3 P. M. and the track, at 4.

The tennis team played three singles and two doubles, against the Chaminade netmen. Bill Graves was the sole Lion winner in the singles, triumphing over Dayton's Jack Witte by 7-9, 7-5 and 7-5. Tom Henry lost to Tom Condon (1-6, 3-6) and Ron Campbell dropped his match with Tom Litmer (2-6, 3-6).

The doubles victory for the Lions went to Bob Crouse and Hugh Lentz who whipped Dayton's J. Solomon and Jim Diamond 6-0, 4-6 and 6-4. Don Clay and Joe Sever lost, 6-3, 4-6, 3-6, to Chaminade's Joe Smith and Joe Westbrook.

In the four-match golf meet, Fred Cahall, the Lions' number one man, whipped Chaminade's top man by a score of 81-83, earning four points. Fred Belles lost his match, 99-83, but picked up two more points. Dick Dawson lost, 107-92, and Mike Cunningham dropped his match, 118-100. In the coaches' match, Bill McCullough beat Dayton's Steve Brudinski, 81-88.

The next golf match for the Lions will be Tuesday at Chillicothe.

2 Ohioans Win In Army Tourney

PARKS AIR BASE, Calif. (P)—Two Ohioans scored victories and one was defeated in the second night of bouts in the all Air Force boxing tournaments.

Bantamweight Ward Yee of Youngstown last night knocked out Emanuel Barnes of New Orleans in 1:07 of the first round. Lightweight James Williams, also of Youngstown, stopped Thomas Santiago of Brooklyn in the first. Willis Sears of Hamilton was defeated in a bout with Willie Morton of San Francisco.

Wife Says HST's Hurling No Good

KANSAS CITY (P)—Mrs. Harry Truman doesn't think much of her husband's baseball pitching ability.

Shortly before the former President was scheduled to throw out the first ball in the Kansas City Athletics' opener against Detroit yesterday, Mrs. Truman was asked which hand her husband would use.

"I don't know," she replied, "and I don't believe he knows yet. He's not very good either way."

Expert Convinced Aussies Cannot Host '56 Olympics

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (P)—The Olympics boss, Avery Brundage, has come away from Melbourne highly agitated at the lack of preparation for the 1956 games and talking out loud about the possibility of having to change the location at this late date.

From the moment the announcement came that Melbourne had been awarded the great sports festival, we have regarded the choice as the most improbable thing every done by the athletic fraternity, and they have done some dillies.

This feeling is completely apart from the Aussies' failure to get cracking with the physical setup required to conduct the games, though the last time we were there, early in '53, it already was apparent that trouble and delay were in the offing in that respect. Our feeling, rather, has been one of horror at the thought of Melbourne trying to absorb an Olympic crowd, or even the hundreds of newsmen who ordinarily report the event.

Brundage, of course, received the red carpet treatment. Chances are that a hotel suite, with private bath, was waiting for him. We wish our dying day that the austere Chicagoan had just dropped off a plane, taxied into the city and upped to one of the charming lady hotel clerks who have a corner on that job in the country Down Under.

If he had gone to any one of Melbourne's two or three fairly modern hostels, the odds are about 8-1 he would have found himself back on the city's wide sidewalks within three minutes, feeling numb. If, on the long chance, he did get to sign his name, the odds are at least as great that the Midwest hotel tycoon would have discovered he was sharing a community bath with an entire floor or confirmed bathers.

Having gone through this for a month on our maiden visit to Melbourne with a Davis Cup tennis team—and with a reservation, yet—we are in position to state that it is not an ideal arrangement. It is irksome to pad the length of a corridor and around the corner only to hear splashing beyond the door, and there is a mental hazard which grows with the passing days. The third time it happened to him, Brundage probably would have moved the games to Tokyo.

Though Melbourne has a million population, it can bed down no more transients than the average city of 100,000 in this country. Only one of its hotels—not a large one—boasts a private bath with each room.

Cockell Says Rock Is No Superman

NEW YORK (P)—"He's no superman. He's got two arms and two legs just like I have. I hope to win the title, otherwise I never would have come here."

That's the way England's Don Cockell sized up his coming title fight with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in San Francisco May 16.

The pudgy, 217-pound British heavyweight boss arrived early yesterday morning from England on the Queen Mary, was the guest of honor at press party at a downtown restaurant and then departed last night for San Francisco. He is due there Friday.

Pitching—Bob Lemon, Cleveland Indians—allowed only five hits, four of them singles, to beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1.
Bating—Ted Lepcio, Boston Red Sox—became first to hit two home runs in one game at Baltimore's spacious Memorial Stadium as Red Sox defeated Orioles 7-1.

Pro Cager Slated To Shun LaSalle

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Jim Pollard reportedly will tell LaSalle College officials today that he will not take the school's vacant basketball coaching job.

The post was offered to the 32-year-old forward of the Minneapolis Lakers last week after Ken Loeffler resigned as LaSalle's coach to become coach at Texas A & M. A Laker spokesman said in New York yesterday he was sure Pollard would have notified the pro club if he had any intention of leaving. It also was reported that Pollard's wife is against the move.

Runaway Boy May Lose Berth

PASADENA, Calif. (P)—If 11-year-old Jed Young doesn't come home soon, he's going to lose his job as catcher on Pasadena's Little League baseball team.

Jed's father, E. G. Young, says the boy ran away Friday to escape punishment for an unauthorized charge account for candy at a grocery store.

"I didn't start worrying about him until he failed to show up for baseball practice," said the father. "He'll have to get back in a hurry to stay on the baseball team."

The heaviest player on the Chicago Cub's roster is first baseman Steve Bilko who weighs 230 pounds. Tommy Carroll, 18-year-old Yankee bonus rookie, is the youngest player on the New York roster.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Peony-Flowered Spring Bulb

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

THERE are certain tender bulbous plants which bloom in early summer with rare beauty, yet are seldom seen in home gardens. One of the gayest of these is Ranunculus, especially the newer peony-flowered variety whose large flowers come in vivid colors.

For success with these spring bulbs, "know how" must be used in planting them. The claw-shaped bulb should be planted prongs down as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Plant three inches deep, which will leave two inches of soil above the bulb. Space them four to six inches apart.

Before planting, soak the bulbs for 20 minutes in lukewarm water. Good bulbs will swell. Those which remain withered looking should be discarded. After planting, keep the soil moist so the roots will grow quickly. When the new growth is about two inches high, a 2-inch mulch of peat or humus will help.

The time will vary some according to sections of the country, but do not plant bulbs outside until after all danger of frost is past.

The blossom of this spring bulb is double and semi-double and often 2 to 2 1/2 inches across on a strong wiry stem. The flower is compact, as shown in the Garden-Graph. Colors of the peony-flowered variety range from orange red through to fiery red and one named Edelweiss, a pure white. The blooms are excellent for cutting for indoor decoration.

Switch Explodes

CLEVELAND (P)—The main electric switch at the new lake-front parcel post annex exploded last night causing damage estimated at more than $25,000.

Committees Named
For Event Set For
Fairgrounds Apr. 24

The Washington C. H. Lions Club will again sponsor a matinee race program to be held at the Fairgrounds on Sunday, April 24. This will be the third annual event that has proven to be so popular the previous years.

John Sagar is serving as the general chairman. He will be assisted by Frank Ellis.

At the Tuesday evening meeting held at the Country Club final plans were made to stage the big event. All proceeds will go to the Lions Club sight-saving fund which will aid the needy of this area in eye care.

It was again voted to make a nominal charge for adults at the gate and permit children under 12 years admission free. Parking is free and the only extra expense is the purchase of box seats. The entire grandstand is open with only box seats reserved, and these will only be reserved on a first come first serve basis the day of the race.

Hank Butler and his mobile starting gate from Waverly will be on hand to start each race. The presiding judge will be Carl Weiland from New Carlisle. Both these officials are licensed by the United States Trotting Association and follow their trade through out each racing season at many of the states county fairs and pari-mutuel tracks.

GUESTS AT THE Tuesday night meeting were John Highlander, with Dr. C. R. Griffiths, and Sgt. James H. Estep of the Air Filtering Center Corps from Columbus.

Sgt. Estep was introduced by Omar Schwartz, and explained the important job the Air Force, in cooperation with the Civilian Defense Corps is doing in setting up ground observer posts all over the United States. The units will be operated for the spotting of airplanes every 8 miles in this county, said Sgt. Estep. "It is a big job to find volunteers and to man these stations on a 24-hour basis but we believe it can be done," the speaker said.

Estep declared the use of radar in warning of an attack is good but additional methods of detections are needed because radar, being a mechanical device, is not infallible.

At the conclusion of his talk, he asked the Lions to volunteer their services when needed.

DURING THE business part of the meeting Lion President Wayne Bower called on R. B. Tharp, who reported on the sub-district convention to be held in Dayton on Sunday, May 1. Tharp made it clear that the Washington C. H. club would act as the host for this meeting due to the fact that District Governor Don J. Gibson is a member of it. It is hoped that a large number of members here will be at this meeting.

Robert Minshall spoke briefly on his recent visit to the home office of Lions International in Chicago.

President Bower then presented his father-in-law, Ray Brandenburg, who spoke as the representative of the Fayette County Automobile Dealers Association. Brandenburg told the group of the week long celebration now in progress by the dealers with the theme "Spotlight on Automobiles." He stressed the important part each dealer and employees play in regard to the economic welfare of the community and the nation as a whole.

Selden Grange Time Changed

Rural Life Sunday
Plans Are Outlined

Opening time for Selden Grange will be a half hour later during the summer months.

Master Kenneth Bush announced at Tuesday night's meeting that, starting with the May meeting, the opening ritual would start at 8:30 P. M. instead of 8 o'clock as it has been during the autumn, winter and spring.

He also announced that the Fifth Degree would be conferred by Greenfield Grange, in the school at Highland, May 5. Highway 28, two miles west of Leesburg.

Fayette County Granges are invited to bring their Fifth Degree candidates to this meeting. To encourage as many as possible to attend this meeting, the master appointed one family from each refreshment committee, to contact the other members of their committee and urge them to take the Fifth Degree if they are not already Pomona Grange members.

The Grangers voted to buy the screen for the movie projector, which has recently been purchased by the Staunton School. They also voted to contribute to the cancer fund, and the crippled children fund.

W. W. Montgomery announced two 4-H Steer Club tours, the first to be on April 16 and the second on April 23.

IT WAS SUGGESTED that Staunton Church be the meeting place, this year in the annual observance of Rural Life Sunday, which will be May 15.

The lecture program was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Matt McDonald. It consisted of a brief history of Arbor Day (April 29 this year) by Anna Alice Frayne and a vocal solo by Macky McDonald, "The Bells of St. Mary's." Then followed some musical comedy and vaudeville acts by George Foy, Frank Myers and Francis Marion Kennedy. Foy played an electric mandolin, Myers an electric guitar, while Kennedy played anything he could get his hands on, including a fly sprayer. Their humorous stunts really "brought down the house."

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marting, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Buck, Mrs. Martha Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Belt, Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Acton, Frank Colopy, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nisley.

Loring Harrop New President

Eber PTO Group
Chooses New Officers

Loring Harrop was elected president of Eber Parent-Teachers Organization Tuesday evening at the school.

Other officers elected were Mrs. John Warnecke, secretary; Mrs. Willard McClain, treasurer and Mrs. Leonard Slager, reporter. All new officers will begin their duties next September.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Walter Carman, with the group singing "America." Mrs. Charles Wood gave the secretary's report and the treasurer, Mrs. Jack Kellough, said the organization had $263.95 in its coffers. Mrs. Carman expressed thanks to the PTO for sending the officers to the county PTO achievement meeting.

Plans were made to buy a flowering crab tree to plant on the school lawn on Arbor Day. A program for that morning, April 29, is planned by the school. Mrs. Carman also announced that the PTO May Day program will be April 28 under the direction of Mrs. Norman Armbrust.

The refreshment committee for May will be composed of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Harrop; Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Deskins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pettit, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Warner and Mrs. Thelma Raizik.

Mrs. Russell Giebelhouse was in charge of the evening's program. The first number, "Open Up Your Heart," was sung by Doris Streitenberger, Lorena Harrop, Teddy Tway, Patricia Seyfang, Susan Justice and Joyce Carson. This was followed by a piano solo by Ruby Ater, a song by Dixie and Patty Shiplett, tap dance by Carol Barton, solo by Carolyn Seymore, piano solo by Gregg Thompson, duet by Edwina Dahmer and Karen Carman, magician act by Gene Inderrieden and a group song by Helen Kruger, Linda Dun, Christina Smith, Edwina Dahmer, Dixie Shiplett, Ruby Ater and Karen Carman.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria where tables were decorated with spring flowers. The committee in charge of the evening's refreshments included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kuebler, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Carwie, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Justice, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Slager and Mrs. Emerson Chapman.

Four More Noise Makers Nabbed

Others Arrested For
Traffic Offenses

Continuing their drive to bring about a reasonable observance of the anti-noise ordinance of the city, police Tuesday and Tuesday night arrested four more truck drivers for permitting the trucks they were driving to make excessive noise.

The officers said they rounded up part of the drivers while their trucks were roaring through the city late at night with apparently no attempt to muffle the noise of the big engines.

All posted $20 for appearance in municipal court and it was expected that, as usual, most of the drivers would forfeit their bonds by not appearing in court.

The four drivers arrested for excessive noise were: Ernest V. Buntana, Lyons, Wis.; Gilbert Lee Lakes, Atlanta, Ga.; Glenn Mastin, Germantown, Ky.; and Harold E. Woods, Rainesville, Ala.

Others facing charges filed Tuesday are:

Beryl Raypole, 52 miles an hour on Highland Avenue;

James H. Perrill, route 1, running red light;

Michael Carpenter, Springfield, running school light;

Robert W. Samuelson, Pittsburgh, running red light;

James McDowell, Parrott, Ky., for passing school bus while it was unloading children. (Charge filed by George Blackmore);

William Hendrix, Pomeroy, running red light;

John O. Neufield, Eugene, Ore., running red light.

Oscar L. McKinney, city, running red light.

Funeral Is Held For Mrs. Myers

Many relatives and friends attended the funeral service for Mrs. Ruby Myers in the Gerstner Funeral Home at 2 P. M. Tuesday. The Daughters of America attended in a group.

Rev. Clinton Swengel, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church offered a prayer, quoted the Scripture, delivered a sermon and paid personal tribute to Mrs. Myers. He also read the poem, "Watching From Heaven's Window."

Flowers were cared for by the pallbearers, Cecil and Floyd West, and Mrs. Emerson Chapman.

He was taken in the Gerstner ambulance to Memorial Hospital and given treatment.

Police investigated and were told that Michael had started to cross the street and turned back to avoid an automobile when he was hit by the bicycle.

Contest Postponed

The Good Hope Grange drill district contest has been postponed from Thursday to Wednesday, April 20. It will be held at the new Yellow Springs school.

Men, Money, Angry Parents Bring About Polio Vaccine

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Men, money and angry parents delivered the technical knockout to polio through the Salk vaccine.

The men — many scientists making discoveries step by step paving the way to a vaccine.

The money—$10 million or more in March of Dimes funds from the public to support this research. To this extent the vaccine is something the American people created.

The parents—angry at the stealthy invisible killer and destroyer of children, determined to extinguish its nerve-consuming fire.

Today the victory is within grasp with a successful vaccine, developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh, a dedicated scientist with incisive mind.

Today the first batches of an improved Salk vaccine are moving from pharmaceutical houses to public health officials and doctors' offices to begin inoclations of some 30 million children or more this spring and summer.

Within hours after the official verdict that the vaccine is up to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralysis, it was licensed by the National Institute of Health for public use.

Dimes contributed to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will pay for enough vaccine for free inoculations of nine million children in all first and second grades and some in third grades. The rest will be administered by doctors to patients, with high priority urged for children and pregnant women.

At last, polio is on the way to defeat, control, eradication.

The victory did not come easily. As with most great achievements of medical science, it built from the minds of many men.

In 1909 Dr. Karl Landsteiner

discovered polio was due to a virus, an infinitesimal disease agent far smaller than bacteria.

Now the cause was known, but no control.

A few years later, polio spread like a conflagration through New York City, striking hard with death and paralysis. Parents fled the cities with their children.

Polio had made its panic known. It came mysteriously

and still today science does not know exactly how.

Again and again it flared here and there. It felled adults as well as children. It felled a man destined to become a United States president, Franklin D. Roosevelt. He, like so many others, rose above his handicap, and inspired the March of Dimes. Now money was poured into the search for knowledge.

Little and big facts and new techniques came from many men, by no means all engaged in polio research. They set the stage for four vital findings coming in a rush between 1949 and 1952.

Dr. John F. Enders and associates of Harvard learned how to grow and harvest polio virus from monkey kidney tissue. A large team of researchers learned that only three types of polio virus cause human paralysis.

Dr. Dorothy Horstmann of Yale and Dr. David Bodian of Johns Hopkins found that virus

invades the blood stream before it hits the nerves. Dr. William McD. Hammon of the University of Pittsburgh showed that small amounts of antibodies if present in the blood could disarm the virus.

At Pittsburgh, too, Dr. Salk six years ago began working for a polio vaccine. He built on what had gone before, contributed his own deductions, experiments, solutions, perseverance, to create a safe vaccine against all types of paralyzing virus.

MASS POLIO INOCULATION SET BY OHIO

Oops! Truck Bobbles Cargo

A BIG DRIVEAWAY TRUCK hauling four new Ford cars spilled one of them and damaged two others when the truck left Route 238 just south of Bloomingburg at 8:45 A. M. Wednesday. The driver, Charles D. Chitwood, 30, of Cincinnati, said he heard a noise in the trailer section of his truck. As he turned to look back, the trailer left the road. Soft dirt at the roadside prevented him from bringing his rig back on the road. The trailer ran 130 feet in the ditch, struck a concrete culvert (at extreme left in photo) and bounced back into the road. The impact ripped loose the top ramp of the trailer, throwing the front end of one of the cars to the road and damaging two others. Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur checked the accident and stopped traffic until a wrecker lowered the dangling auto to the pavement and the road was cleared. (Record-Herald photo)

Probe of Dulles-Corsi Tiff Scheduled By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kilgore (D-WV) said today he agrees there should be an inquiry by Congress into operations of the Refugee Relief Act, as demanded by Edward J. Corsi and promised by Sen. Langer (R-ND).

Langer announced last night that a Judiciary subcommittee on immigration which he heads will "conduct a full and complete" inquiry to see how the program is working. He said he hoped to work out detailed plans at a subcommittee meeting this afternoon.

Sen. Humphrey (D - Minn), meanwhile, asked Secretary of State Dulles to explain security aspects of his ouster of Corsi as a State Department adviser on refugee problems.

Red Cross Campaign Is To Be Pressed Here

With the Red Cross campaign still at least $2,800 from its goal of 9,200 and Fayette County, thus in imminent danger of losing its right to participate in the blood program, the Red Cross chapter board and campaign leaders today were asking the solicitors to make another appeal for funds.

At the last report, which was made at a special emergency meeting of the board and campaign leaders, $6,087.88 had been turned in with only two townships, Wayne and Jasper, to be heard from. Estimating $300 from these two, the fund would be only around $6,400.

The campaign was scheduled for March, but it is being continued in the hope that the goal can be reached.

Don Wood, the president of the chapter here, said he and other campaign heads felt there was a possibility that some had not been solicited during the campaign and that these probably would make contributions if they are called on now, especially if they realize what a serious blow it would be to the community to be dropped from the Red Cross blood bank.

He said also that it was agreed at the meeting that many of those who have contributed already would increase their contributions when they see loss of the Red Cross services as a probability.

The chapter board was concerned over the failure of the campaign and made no secret of it. One said "people just don't seem to realize the seriousness of the situation. They don't seem to realize how much the Red Cross means to the people of the community."

It is a little early for lawn mowing, but the first clipping of the one at the Post Office was made Monday where the grass was really requiring attention as result of spring-like weather and an abundance of rain the past month.

I notice that there is a lack of the usual crop of dandelions on some lawns where they formerly were abundant, due in part to persistent removal of them with the aid of implements and also application of DDT or some other weed killer.

With a few more warm days, pushing the lawn mower for the season will be necessary (it can never be too popular) to keep pace with the growth of the grass and what have you.

Speaking of the dandelions, that reminds me that the weed, golden blossoms of which are really beautiful, is found throughout North America, Europe and Asia, and where it is not controlled, it will just about wipe out lawns, pastures and other growth.

Grand Jury Report Correction Made

In the report of the grand jury action carried in Tuesday's Record-Herald, the name of Robert D. Smith was erroneously listed as one of those whose cases were ignored by the grand jury.

The name should have been Kenneth VanDyke. He was charged with intent to commit rape, but the case was ignored by the grand jury.

Robert D. Smith was not charged with any offense and the Record-Herald is glad to make this correction to clear his name.

First Step In Improvement Starts Monday

Distribution System Of Water Company To Be Protected

The Ohio Water Service Company will start, probably next Monday, on the first step in the extensive overall program of improvements which it plans to push to the earliest possible completion.

The company announced today that this first move in the general construction job will require considerable digging in the city streets in placing its water distribution system in the best possible condition to be ready to isolate sections of the city, to enable it to give service if and when any emergency disaster should strike here.

It was stated that the company will immediately install a series of large valves in the distribution system so that it will be possible to pump water from any one of three separate stations in case both other locations are forced to shut down.

O. D. Farquhar, local manager for the company, said this will make possible the serving of a large part of the city under adverse conditions as a protection against a complete shutdown.

FARQUHAR asserted that the company hopes that such a condition never will be necessary and that the newly installed valves will never have to be used, but that the company desires to be ready in case of such an emergency.

The new control valves will be installed with water pressure maintained, he said. Excavations will be of considerable size in streets where there will be much traffic and the company will use every safety precaution but hopes that the motoring public will help it guard against accidents.

The street work will be done by the A. P. Smith Company of East Orange, New Jersey, specialists in this line.

This is the beginning of the construction program which will include the building of the new 200,000-gallon reservoir and a complete new water service plant. Work on these projects is expected to start within a few weeks.

Farquhar said that all the necessary surveying and similar preliminary work relative to the locations for the new plant and reservoir has been completed. The new plant will include complete filtering and softening facilities and will be connected with the reservoir by a 16 inch transmission pipe line 2,200 feet in length.

Tractor Chief Dies

MILWAUKEE (AP)—William A. Roberts, 57, president of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., one of the nation's biggest manufacturers of tractors, died yesterday.

Thousands of Bugs Squashed On City Streets During Night

During Tuesday night thousands of diving beetles, a variety of "water bugs," were crushed under wheels of traffic on the uptown streets, chiefly on Fayette and Main Streets between East and Court Streets.

Indications are that the diving beetles, which are oval in shape, about an inch long, rather thin through the body, black in color and with wings, came from the sewers.

Apparently there were tens of thousands of the beetles in this area during the night and only a small part of them were crushed by vehicles.

New Schedule To Be Set Up Here for Polio Vaccinations

A new schedule for the polio vaccinations for the children of the first and second grades of the city and county schools is to be set up by the county's Health Department as soon as new recommendations are received from the state Department of Health.

This was revealed Wednesday morning by Miss Gretchen Darlington, the senior nurse of the department, after she, Dr. N. A. Dyer, the health commissioner, and two other staff nurses, Mrs. Robert Wientjes and Mrs. John Richards, attended a district meeting in Columbus Tuesday night about nine hours after the official approval of Salk vaccine had been announced dramatically.

At that meeting, the physicians, nurses and health commissioners were told through a closed television circuit from the University of Michigan by Dr. Jonas Salk and Dr. Thomas Francis that the immunization was a more effective when the second of the three-shot treatment is administered from three to four weeks after the first one and the third and last shot from seven to ten months after the second.

Originally, all three shots had been tentatively scheduled to be given within about five weeks; that was the plan, not only here, but throughout the country, for this mass inoculation of first and second graders is on a nationwide scale.

Miss Darlington said she was keeping in touch with Dr. Dyer Wednesday by telephone. He was in his Chillicothe office, she explained, because he serves as the health commissioner for both Fayette and Ross counties.

She said, too, that Dr. Dyer and the nurses had agreed after the Tuesday night meeting in Columbus, that a new schedule of vaccinations would have to be set up. However, she added, it would not be done until recommendations

The last of three triplet girls born in Memorial Hospital here March 5 is dead.

Marlene Holloway, died at Children's Hospital in Columbus at 9 A. M. Tuesday. The first triplet, Berlinda Sue, died in the hospital here shortly after birth and Darlene, the second of the tiny sisters, died March 31.

The only other set of triplets born in Memorial Hospital was born in 1951 to Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Ferguson of Washington C. H. One of them failed to survive.

Surviving Marlene are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Holloway of Bookwalter; a sister Brenda and brother Ronald.

Service was held Wednesday afternoon and burial was in Fairview Cemetery at Jeffersonville under the direction of the Little Funeral Home.

came officially from the state Department of Health.

Miss Darlington said she expected the new schedule would be drawn up before the end of the week.

Meanwhile, plans for vaccinating the first and second graders in the county schools next Wednesday, April 20, and the first and second

Ohio Education Board Plan Up For House Vote

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio House of Representatives runs headlong today into one of its roughest floor fights for the 1955 session.

The issue: Shall the state board of education, approved by the voters in 1953, be elected or appointed? The result could be a compromise—a part-elected, part-appointed board.

The all-elected board is backed by the Ohio School Survey Commission as a part of its 16-month study. The all-appointed board was recommended by Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Republican Education Committee Chairman William L. Manahan of Defiance influenced his 23-member committee to back the elected board.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, Logan County Republican, is reported to favor still a third type of board, made up of nine elected members plus four members appointed by the governor.

Whatever the House decision, which certainly will be reached only after hours of debate, it still must be passed by the Senate.

The Senate Highways Committee last night failed to reach an agreement on a bill to recapture for the Legislature the power to set turnpike routes and the authority to issue bonds for future turnpikes. No vote was taken on the controversial measure and Chairman David McK. Ferguson said further hearings would be subject to the call of the chair.

Two witnesses, opposing the attempt to strip the turnpike commission of the authority to issue bonds and relieve the governor of the responsibility for setting the routes of future turnpikes, were heard by the highway committee last night.

The first, Allison C. Neff of Middletown, said the proposed Cincinnati-Conneaut turnpike "is the largest single turnpike in the world" and would be "jeopardized by some of this legislation."

The second, Dennis Murphy of a Columbus bond house, complained that under the proposed bill sponsored by Ferguson:

"The legislative committee set up to control routes and bonds couldn't act within the time required, couldn't sell the bonds required to build turnpikes.

"Prospective bond buyers would demand a test case to determine the constitutionality of the act."

"Turnpike revenue bonds are salable because the operating group has full power; anything that takes away from that power might cause investors to look at such project with a very critical eye."

"Anything in the act which would cause investors to lose confidence in the project would be a very serious thing."

Last night, the House passed a bill to make out-of-state children responsible for the support of their aged parents in Ohio. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill which would require southern Ohio tobacco growers to pay personal income tax only once on each crop of tobacco they grow in Ohio, no matter what the curing or disposal method.

graders in the five elementary schools in Washington C. H. the next day, April 21, were unchanged.

The second shots had been scheduled for April 27 and 28 and the third for May 25 and 26, but these probably will be changed in the light of more recent recommendations by Dr. Salk, the discoverer of the vaccine, and Dr. Francis, of the University of Michigan College of Medicine.

However, it was emphasized that even the starting dates are tentative and depend largely on whether the Salk vaccine is received by that time and whether the physicians can fit the schedule to their plans.

But, the schools are ready for the vaccinations any time the Department of Health gives the word.

Information about the Salk vaccine, its purpose and probable reactions had been given to the parents first. Pamphlets describing the program designed to end the menace of paralytic polio were sent home by the pupils and it also was described at Parent-Teacher meetings.

The last step was to send "consent blanks" home by the boys and girls. Through these the parents gave their consent for the vaccinations. This is a voluntary program, it was made plain, and a few of the parents refused permission for the vaccination.

The shots are to be administered by teams of one physician, two private nurses, a Health Department nurse and three or four volunteers, probably mothers from the Parent-Teacher groups, to help keep order among the children.

Four vaccinations centers have been set up for the county schools—at Good Hope, Bloomingburg, Jeffersonville and Chaffin schools—and three in Washington C. H.—at Eastside, Sunnyside and Central Schools. Children in the other schools are to be taken to one of these schools for their shots.

Unseen Bombers Drone Overhead For 15 Minutes

That loud drone you heard overhead for about 15 minutes at mid-morning Wednesday was nothing to be concerned about.

You can take the word of a spokesman at Lockbourne Air Base near Columbus that all that noise from above the clouds came from just 12 B-47 bombers of the Strategic Air Command.

When calls started coming into the Record-Herald news room at 10 o'clock (while the droning was continuing), a query was made to the Associated Press bureau in Columbus.

After about ten minutes, the Associated Press called back to say that an officer at the Lockbourne Air Base had said "it's just routine," and went on to explain that Washington C. H. is considered in a "danger area" and part of what was described as a "high training area."

Wednesday morning, the informant said the B-47s were starting at 40,000 feet and practicing "low approaches" on Wright-Patterson Air Base near Dayton.

How it was possible for just 12 bombers to continue that virtually uninterrupted droning for nearly 15 minutes remained a mystery... especially to those here who cocked their ears and strained their eyes for the heard but unseen planes high above the clouds.

The reports said the bombers were from Lockbourne Air Base.

440,540 Kids In Ohio Said To Be Eligible

First Vaccine Shipment Expected To Reach State By Monday

COLUMBUS (AP)—With a powerful new weapon, Ohio's health workers today moved to conquer polio, vicious enemy of children.

The Salk polio vaccine yesterday was announced successful. Immediately state health workers planned for mass inoculations of youngsters.

Health authorities said 440,540 Ohio school children are eligible for the shots. About 90 per cent of their parents are expected to sign consent cards for the injection of the preventative.

The deadly, crippling polio season begins in late spring and extends through summer.

The first shots of vaccine will probably be in the arms of the eligible youngsters by the end of this month.

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, director of the Ohio health department, said the first shipment of $1,762,000 in vaccine to Ohio may arrive by next Monday.

DR. CARL A. Wilzbach, Cincinnati health commissioner, hopes his department can start giving shots next Monday, with the second dose coming the week of May 23. He wants to give the inoculations in close series, so as not to "lose" individuals.

Dr. H. H. Williams, Dayton health commissioner, said he will insist on booster shots for the 6,693 Montgomery County children who got real shots last year in the extensive test run.

The Ohio health chief said commercial drug makers have set aside some vaccine for use of those not eligible for the free inoculations.

The vaccine, supplied free by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will go to local health departments through six Ohio distribution points: Columbus, Dayton, Bowling Green, Cuyahoga Falls and Athens.

ELIGIBLE youngsters include first and second graders in public, private and parochial schools, except those in Richland and Montgomery counties who received actual vaccine in 1954 field tests.

Polio researchers say 7,921 Ohio children got Salk polio vaccine last year and only three contracted the disease—one of them the paralytic kind.

The three all were from Montgomery County where 6,693 got the serum, while in Richland County, where 1,228 got the vaccine, no cases were reported.

Findings indicated 6,836 Montgomery County children got dummy shots, and of those six contracted paralytic polio and two the nonparalytic variety.

In a study of 12,747 youngsters in Montgomery County given no inoculations, two cases each of paralytic and non-paralytic polio were reported.

Partial or mixed injections were administered to 500 Montgomery County test subjects, from which no polio cases were noted.

Inoculations of 1,234 Richland County youngsters with dummy shots were made and four polio cases reported, three of them paralytic.

No injections were given to 4,042 of which one paralytic case was noted. No polio was reported in 29 children given partial or mixed injections.

THE ORIGINAL Ohio health department schedule for the vaccinations calls for the first inoculation to follow the first by one week, with a third inoculation to follow the second by four weeks.

But yesterday, Dr. Jonas Salk at Ann Arbor, Mich., urged children

this year be given only two shots of vaccine now in order to step up the effectiveness. He said the shots should be spaced two to four weeks apart with the third one delayed for at least seven months afterward.

The department said today it was aware of Dr. Salk's recommendation, but that it is still under study by national advisory committees which are expected to pass on them.

Until that time, Ohio will "stand pat" on its present schedule with the knowledge that the national committee recommendations will be available before second inoculations are scheduled.

Hoover Commission Still Keeps Trying

Members of the Hoover Commission on the Organization of the Executive Branch of the government, usually in close agreement, have split sharply over the report urging sharp curtailment of federal lending services in favor of private interests. The seven - to - five division is reason enough to cause speculation over the prospects of many of these latest proposals being put into effect.

As in past reports the commission points to a tremendous saving as possible if its recommendations are carried out. This is estimated at more than $200 million annually. In addition, there is the prospect of chopping an estimated $7 billion off the national debt.

The federal agencies which the commission majority held should be modified to varying extents deal with almost every phase of American life — business, agriculture, veterans' affairs, and colleges. Some of these services are suggested for liquidation, others for merging with private enterprise, and still more for reduced functions and changes in rates and fees which would enable them to pay their own way.

Some idea of the volume of government activity in the lending markets is given in the disclosure that at the close of the fiscal year, there were 104 federal agencies in lending, guaranteeing, and insuring activities involving $244 billion.

The wide split among the commission members — the minority included Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., and

James A. Farley among others — is in a measure a reflection of the division of opinion among all people on how deeply the government should be involved in business.

The agencies mentioned in the report do not have their roots in any one governmental period. Many were products of the New Deal, a few others are from the time of the Hoover Administration, and very few go back to 1913.

What is puzzling is how the government has been able to find reason to create more than a hundred lending agencies engaged in activities involving almost a quarter of a trillion dollars.

It does seem that some pruning at the federal level is in order.

Soviets Far Behind

The recent speech by Britain's Churchill, making it clear Communist military strength has been overrated and American strength underrated, is having an important effect all over the world. Realization is dawning in many foreign capitals that this country has quietly built up sufficient military strength to destroy any nation or group of nations which dare attack it. Knowing this, Churchill and other world leaders are not fearful of another big war any time soon. Despite rumors and reports to the contrary, the Soviet Union is far behind the United States in the atomic-weapons race. The same is true as to the development of guided missiles.

Diet and Health

When Baby Is Sick He Needs Attention

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN
When your baby is ill, you're going to have a lot of work.

If he has diarrhea, for example, you'll be busy feeding him a good portion of the day. He'll keep you busy in other ways too.

Diarrhea in a baby six months old or so ordinarily is a sign to stop giving him solid food. I think it's also usually best to stop his orange juice and cod-liver oil.

Plenty of Liquids

But he can't do without all liquids and this is where you'll have to keep hopping to see that he's properly supplied. He should get skimmed, boiled milk at his regular feeding times. In addition, he must get plenty of lukewarm boiled water or lukewarm weak tea. Give him all of the water or tea he will drink. Offer this to him every hour! If he's sleeping peacefully, however, it's wisest not to wake him.

Now, as if this schedule isn't keeping you busy enough, there are a couple of other things you might give him.

Offer him one or two teaspoonfuls of mashed ripe banana or scraped raw apple every couple of hours. By ripe banana I mean one with a yellow skin covered with small dark spots. The banana is not ripe enough if any part of the skin is green or if it contains no brown spots.

Scraped Raw Apple

As for preparing the scraped raw apple, first wash it in clean water. Peel it and then scrape it. Use a clean spoon or, better still, grate it with a clean grater. Allow the scrapings to stand until they turn brown.

As your baby gets better and the diarrhea begins to clear up, gradually start giving him his regular foods.

Give him his cereals first, then the orange juice and cod-liver oil. Next you can resume his cooked vegetables and, finally, you can give him his fruits.

Then you're back in the old routine again — with plenty of time on your hands. Oh yeah?

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. A. L.: I am troubled with gout. What causes it and what can be done to give you relief?

Answer: Gout is a disorder of the metabolism in which uric acid is retained in the body, there are also attacks of acute inflammation in the joints due to the depositing of salts of uric acid in this disease, as is alcohol. Overeating without exercise is often a cause. Worry and slight injuries may produce attacks.

The treatment of gout consists in temperate living, the use of low purin diet, and abstinence from alcohol. The new drugs, cortisone and ACTH, have been found quite helpful in treating this condition.

Cheap Power Proposal Explodes

Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—A major New Deal experiment in cheap public power and rural electrification has exploded in the faces of unhappy Eisenhower administrators. It is a problem based on faulty promises, economics and politics, and it does not stand alone.

The dilemma confronting conscientious Ancher Nelsen, rural electrification administrator, involves the Santee-Cooper water-power project in South Carolina and the 350 miles of lines that carry its electricity to 80,000 farmers.

It results from the fact that the Central Electric Power Cooperative, which built these lines with a $13.6 million loan from REA, cannot meet its payments to Uncle Sam without a raise in rates which the farmer cannot pay.

PERPLEXING — The practical and businesslike solution for private business and industry would be for the two public agencies involved to base their rate schedules on prices which would enable them to return a profit and to remain solvent. But that would repudiate Roosevelt-Truman pledges that their public power program would light up the countryside at bargain prices.

It would wreck an honest investment in equipment which rural consumers have made in good faith. Finally, farmers are voters—80,000 of them in this instance, like does not feel that he can let them down, even though he is not responsible for their current difficulties.

The Santee-Cooper hydroelectric project was one of Harold L. Ickes' favorite schemes, for he wanted to disprove charges that only the Far West was benefitting from his public power theories. He advanced PWA funds to finance the undertaking, which harnesses the waters of the Santee and Cooper Rivers above Charleston.

FINANCES — South Carolina created a state authority to operate the plant, and will eventually own it, although it still owes about $29 million to the federal government and $15 million to Wall Street bankers. In a complicated arrangement, the authority leases the Central Co-op's lines for transmission of power. The Authority's payments to the co-op are supposed to enable the latter body to pay off its borrowings from REA.

When the authority recently encountered financial difficulties, which are now being investigated by a South Carolina legislative committee, it notified the co-op that it would have to charge 7.2 mills instead of 6 mills per kilowatt hour. Since this would be a grave hardship to the co-op's members, with many unable to pay the increase, the co-op turned to Administrator Nelsen.

After prolonged negotiations which still are not concluded, the co-op has asked Nelsen if he would grant a three-year deferment on repayment of its loans to REA. If granted this moratorium, the authority and the co-op believe that they can keep the cost of electricity to the farmers at 6.4 instead of 7.2 mills, an increase of only four-tenths of a mill.

ACCIDENT? — Administrator Nelsen will—must, he feels—reluctantly consent, although he insists on terms that will protect his $13.6 million in loans to the co-op.

Whether the revision will enable the authority to pay off its obligations to the government is not his affair. Another federal agency — General Services Administration—has the responsibility for collecting the $29 million owed to Uncle Sam by the state authority.

By design or accident, New Deal sponsors of this project arranged that the repayment crisis would fall on non-Truman time. Although the REA loan is dated Jan. 1, 1950, it was stipulated that the co-op's first $209,000 payment should not fall due until Jan. 1, 1955. The three-year deferment begins with this payment.

Egypt Now In Transition

By Hal Boyle

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt is in transition, proud of its mighty past but anxious to cure its old poverty by turning to new ways.

Abraham Noman is as good a human symbol as any of the slow changes that are bringing fresh hope of better times for this ancient land.

Abraham is a 6-foot, 195-pound, 29-year-old bedouin, whose fierce ancestors once roamed the desert.

Some bedouins, a proud and independent people, still roam the desert and live in tents. Others have compromised with civilization and come to town to live. Abraham is a town bedouin.

"My great grandfather was the last in our family to live in a tent," he said. "The desert bedouins have no education. They are ignorant."

Abraham's family has done pretty well, all things considered, since coming to town. Abraham himself is a servant in famous Mena House, an old-fashioned sprawling hotel near the pyramids at Giza.

Most of those whose needs Abraham tends are tourists, and many of them have been famous. They often laugh and make jokes when they first see Abraham. He does look odd to them in his small skullcap and long nightgown garb, like a figure out of the Arabian nights.

Abraham patiently smiles

through their laughter. He probably thinks tourists look odd, too, but he is too polite and gentle to show it. He likes tourists because he can learn from them.

"I had but nine years of schooling," he said, "and whenever I hear a new word I like to find out what it means."

Abraham waited on a number of us visiting newsmen here. He turned out to be about our best friend in Egypt. Sometimes you can learn as much about real life in a strange country from the guy who presses your pants as you can from one of its politicians.

All of us who jested among ourselves at Abraham on sight, came to admire him for his kindness, his dependability in doing his duty, his intelligence, and his complete sense of personal dignity.

Abraham Noman doesn't know where his last name comes from, but thinks it probably was facetiously given to one of his ancestors a few generations back by a British officer. In any case, he now likes it.

Here is Abraham's self-portrait in his own words:

"My father and I lived the same. But my father lives better than his father did."

"There are nine of us in my family—my father and mother, my wife and myself, my one brother, our three children, and a servant. The servant is a boy of 12 who does the marketing. He is a poor boy without a family. We took him with us because he had no one to play with. We pay him a small amount each month.

"My father was a dragoman, an interpreter. I earn 120 pounds a year (about $344).

"But we have bought a house with nine rooms. My father and mother come first in my life. They will until my last day. Without them I would never know life.

"In some homes the man does first what his wife says, before his father and his mother. I think that is bad.

"Yes, I am happy living in Egypt. It is my luck to be a servant. I cannot turn it back. I do not get angry working for others. When I feel sorry, I pray to the gods.

"But I want my children to be better than me.

"My children are all right. They are good. I hope they go to school for a long time and grow up to be judges or army officers. I would prefer them to be officers, but only if there are no more wars."

Abraham Noman said he thought life in Egypt was getting better for people in his position. When I asked him if he had a grudge against this world, he spread his big palms wide, smiled, and said:

"I am content in myself. What now may I do for you?"

Greatest Writer In America

By George Sokolsky

Albert E. Kahn, the Matusow publisher, who during recent hearings before the Eastland Committee, on several occasions, knows, beyond peradventure, that he is an important American writer. This is his own evaluation of his work:

"... the comment I want to make on this particular matter is that 'The Great Conspiracy' was a book which was very widely published, which published and very widely read in the United States, a book to which Senator Claude Pepper wrote the introduction, and I believe had a circulation of more than a quarter of a million here.

"I think it important for the Committee to recognize the fact that this book was not merely read elsewhere in the world but also read widely in the United States and, according to Barron's Financial Weekly, was a book that was stimulating and informative reading, and according to Newsweek Magazine, a book extremely worth reading."

He received royalties from 25 or 30 countries where his book was widely circulated. I have read "The Great Conspiracy" and put it down as a hodge-podge of communist propaganda, mostly taken out of already published material. Kahn says his book sold in the millions, which is astonishing because it would be difficult to find many Americans who read it or remembered it.

Albert Kahn took the Fifth Amendment to the question of his being a communist, but he made an interesting statement on the subject and I give you this colloquy:

"Mr. Kahn, I understand that many people have been attacked for using the Fifth Amendment. I would simply say this, Senator: That he who attacks me for using the Fifth Amendment does not slander me but slanders the Constitution of the United States.

"The chairman, of course, that is the ground that communists use when they don't want to state whether or not they are a communist.

"Mr. Kahn, You mean, only communists use the Constitution?"

When Kahn became a publisher, he naturally sought capital. He found it, by one means or another principally from the following communists, unions:

"... the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union, the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, the Fur Workers Union. Those are some of the unions."

The financing was done in the following manner, and I quote Kahn on the subject:

"... well, on orders for 2 books which I recall there was an advance payment for 20,000 copies, 10,000 of each book, an advance payment at the wholesale price of 50 cents — they were in the paper editions, these books — from the United Electrical Worker, and 20,000 copies at 50 cents would be $5,000 on each of two books.

"From the furriers, I believe, and I am speaking from memory, there was, an order on 1 book for 2,000 copies, which would amount to an advance order of $1,000, 50 cents a book.

"From Mine, Mill there was an advance order on Matusow's book for 2,000 copies, which amounted to $1,000, the first advance order. That was subsequently increased to $1,250, that is for 2,500 books, and finally, after some effort on my part to get the order up to 10,000, I managed to get it up to, I believe, around 6,700 books, which would be about, well, half of that, at 50 cents a book."

The Matusow case and Kahn's participation in it are clinical evidence of the continuing efforts of the left wingers and their ability to find financial support for whatever they want to do. On the other hand, those who defend the American system of government and life find it most difficult to finance their activities. For instance, during the past two years a militant group of anti-communists have been trying to raise funds to start a magazine to counteract flourishing left-wing publications. It has been a difficult and unpleasant task. Those who have nothing to lose but their money, their property and their social system fear those who fight for them more than they do those who undermine them. It is an interesting commentary on the bourgeois mind.

Brandenburg Is Rotary Speaker For Auto Week

Tells of Industry's Advance - What It Has Meant Locally

Ray Brandenburg acting as spokesman for the eight automobile dealers of this city who are cooperating in the national "Spotlight on Automobiles" week, was the featured speaker before Rotarians and guests at the regular club luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Presented for his vocational talk by President George Finley, Brandenburg made the most of this opportunity by offering facts and figures relative to the motor car industry which proved interesting and highly informative to his hearers.

HE CALLED attention to the fact that the automobile business was highly important as an economic factor, not only in the nation, but in Fayette County as well. He stated that this "spotlight on automobiles" week was not to focus attention on the individuals in the business except as to their part as automobile dealers.

Brandenburg pointed out how a little more than a half century ago there were less than 5,000 automobiles in the country whereas in 1953 there were approximately 58,000,000 cars in service, with a car being sold today every 12 seconds. This, he said means that cars are being manufactured more rapidly than the population grows.

What the industry means to the national economy, the speaker mentioned, is that one out of every seven people gainfully employed in this country, have some employed connection with the motor car industry.

IN FAYETTE COUNTY, Brandenburg said, there are more than 125 people employed in connection in some capacity with the automobile business with pay checks aggregating more than $500,000 annually. In addition to this over $165,000 per year is paid out by dealers in Fayette County for supplies and advertising.

He also called attention to the activities of the many individuals in this county, in connection with the industry, who play a prominent and active part in community life in various capacities and associations. "Over 137 pints of blood were donated last year in Fayette County by people identified with the automobile business", he stated.

That the auto has played a leading role in the revolution of this country's industrial and social life, the speaker said, was because it has made great forward strides in advancing mobility and mobility has been a factor in freedom and our high standard of living.

It is predicted, Brandenburg declared, that by 1970 there will be 80,000,000 cars on our streets and highways which means the creation of thousands of new jobs to be shared by every community. He also pointed out predictions of new and improved highways with automatic control of speed and lights, which will be a part of this great increase in mobile facilities.

In closing, the speaker gave the public credit for the growth of this industry which has meant mutual growth and prosperity for the people as a whole.

President George Finley warmly thanked Brandenburg for his excellent presentation of his subject and for the valuable data he had given. He further declared that the fine cooperation of automobile dealers, mentioned by the speaker, was right in line with the principles of Rotary.

PREVIOUS TO the program feature, the club sang birthday greetings for Belford Carpenter, Ansel Kirk and W. J. Hilty, all of whom contributed to the club's youth fund.

President Finley called attention to the return of Stanley Schneider and Ansel Kirk from Florida and welcomed them to the meeting.

William F. Foster an insurance man from Seranton, Pa., was the only visiting Rotarian. Other guests were Ned Abbott with Walter Seifried, Dr. Frank King with Dr. Robert Woodmansee and Dale Ward with Ray Brandenburg.

Lakeview Ave. Work Progresses

Big Improvement Is At Small Cost

Work of tearing up, regrading, applying stone and rolling Lakeview Avenue its entire length, is moving forward rapidly, and the street will be an entirely different thoroughfare when it is completed a little later with a heavy application of liquid asphalt and stone chips.

Considerable new metal is being applied to place the street in proper condition for the final coat of asphalt and application of stone chips.

It will be recalled that a movement was launched to rebuild Lakeview Avenue, a few years ago, at a cost of about $36,000, but the assessments were so high that the project was opposed by many on the street.

Now residents of the street are receiving a very durable street for approximately $1,000 cost to the city.

County Engineer Charles Wagner has assisted the city with the use of some county equipment which has meant much in conditioning the street.

City Manager James F. Parkinson asks the public to use caution in passing over the street until it is completed, and has left the street open for traffic while the work is underway.

New Store Here To Open Friday

Sanderson Remodels His Harness Shop

Robert S. Sanderson announced today the grand opening of the new Sanderson Hardware Store will be held Friday and Saturday. Completely remodeled with a new modern tile and glass front, the room has taken on a new look.

The inside has been completely redecorated, new shelving and display cases have been put in. New electric light fixtures are in their places and a modern tile floor has been laid.

Sanderson's Harness Shop which formerly was the business name was opened 60 years ago by the father of the present owner in 1895.

Harness sales and repairs were offered from this room by Robert S. Sanderson until his death in March 1952.

Since that time, his son Robert S. Sanderson has operated the business, with the original services of harness repair and sales being featured.

Several years ago a hardware department was opened. It included a wide selection of gift items for the home. This department has been under the management of Miss Metta Graves.

In making the announcement today of the new addition to the present luggage, toy, harness and gift items long carried in the store Sanderson said:

"We are venturing into a new business line for East Court Street. It has been asked of us many times in past years to increase the merchandise in our store. So, after careful consideration we have added a complete line of Hardware goods. Each item we carry in stock will be of national advertised brands. It is our plan to service the people of this community with the best merchandise possible."

Sanderson said today "we will still offer our service of harness and other item repairs" as was started by his father 60 years ago.

Vital Answers Given About Polio Vaccine

When Will Important Shots Be Available? What Will They Cost?

ANN ARBOR (AP)—With the announcement today that the Salk polio vaccine was safe and effective came the answers to several questions which the general public has been asking concerning the vaccine. They are:

How much vaccine is available and when can it be expected to be used?

The vaccine must first be approved and licensed by the National Institutes of Health. That should come very quickly; vaccinations could start in some places in two weeks or less, in others as early as April 18.

Enough vaccine for up to 30 million complete courses (each course consisting of three shots) is being produced by six drug firms.

Some nine million vaccinations will be supplied free by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis (at a cost of $9 million in March of Dimes monies) to offer free shots for all children in the first and second grades of all public parochial and private schools in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii.

The free vaccine will also be offered to children in third grades who took part in the big mass testing.

The rest will be sold by the drug firms for administration by doctors to private patients.

What will it cost?

One firm is selling three shots of vaccine for $4.20; others have announced prices slightly higher. On top of that will be the doctors' fee for administering it.

Priority?

Several medical societies urged the vaccine go first to children aged 1 through the first grade with the second highest priority to children of ages through the fifth grade and thirdly to pregnant women. The aim is to hit polio hardest by inoculating those most susceptible. No particular controls have been announced as to how this commercial vaccine would be distributed.

Adults?

A vaccine successful in children would be successful in adults. Adults have less need for it. By about age 18, most of us have been exposed already to one or more of the three dangerous types of virus and have become immune.

What is the vaccine?

A red liquid containing billions of dead viruses, of all three types, which can cause paralysis in humans. The killed viruses cannot cause sickness, but can stimulate the receiver to make antibodies. The vaccine has been triple-tested for safety and for potency.

How long does it protect?

Only time can answer. There are hopes it might be for years, perhaps requiring occasional booster shots.

Why Did Communists Wait To Return Greek Youths?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

SALONIKA, Greece (AP)—"Why did they not send us back our children when we asked for them—six or seven years ago?" the Greek official said. "Why are they so anxious now?"

"Perhaps it is because now many of the children are grown up and ready. Perhaps, from the Communist way of thinking, the time has arrived."

The official was discussing with me the grave problem of Greek repatriates from Communist countries, where anywhere from 35,000 to 50,000 Greeks—the majority young people—have been kept since the civil war. The Communists not only have agreed to repatriate some of them now. They seem anxious to send them in large numbers.

"To do the work of the Communist party in Greece, they would require only a relative few," this official continued. "Most of the repatriated people probably still are loyal Greeks. But surely among the young people now there must be many who have been turned into convinced Communists."

Young boys, snatched from their peasant villages in the rugged mountain areas of northern Greece, given special treatment in a big city under ceaseless indoctrination, isolated from all other influences, might well have become convinced in seven years.

General-Hocking Brick Co. Named By NLRB Writ

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today issued an unfair labor practices complaint against the General-Hocking Brick Co. of Logan.

A hearing on the complaint, made by the AFL United Brick and Clay Workers Union, will be held April 26 in Hocking court-house.

The complaint charged the Logan company with interfering with union activities since last July 1 and with refusing to bargain collectively with the union. It charged foremen Rexford D. Teller, Fred R. Courtney and Wayne R. Todd and Supt. Harold W. Larimer with threatening economic reprisal or dismissal against employees for union activity.

It also charged that a strike at the plant started last Sept. 21. It charged a number of employees later sought reinstatement but were turned down.

The 200 repatriates in Kastoria, near the Albanian border, are housed in squalid surroundings in two abandoned schoolhouses. Unanimously they seem to hate the Communists and all their works. They hotly deny there have been any agitators among them, that any among them ever expressed the wish to go back to the Communist lands. But even these people do not want to work in the villages or on the farm any more. They want to head to the cities.

These people represent the first trickle, some 3,700 repatriates. Many of them have now been resettled in villages. They are not the people who cause the Greek authorities the greatest concern. The authorities are wondering about those to come—the youngsters grown to maturity under Communist teaching and isolation.

Northern Greece is a hard, stony land. For young men given special treatment abroad, the return is a shock. The Communists seem to have tried to make sure that the contrast would be felt keenly.

Here in Macedonia, close to the borders of communism, there is concern about the possibility of a future guerrilla nucleus in Greece, usable by the Communists in time of emergency.

At the end of the civil war some 15,000 Red Greek guerrillas fled across the borders to Communist countries. To these, say Macedonian officials, add a fair number of young men trained through their boyhood in communism and wholly under Red influence.

Foresters, game wardens and security forces have been alerted in northern Greece to be on the lookout for Communist agents infiltrating across the Bulgarian and Albanian borders. "Several Red leaders who had crossed secretly into Greece with instructions to reorganize the shattered underground party apparatus have already been arrested."

Police Department Clerk Reinstated

CLEVELAND (AP)—Civil Service commissioners voted, 3-0, yesterday to reinstate Miss Rita McCradden, clerk who was fired because police reported Frank Brancato had no record. The Federal Immigration Service, which had used the report in deciding to allow Brancato to stay in this country, reopened the case after finding the Cleveland department's report was in error.

Miss McCradden told the commission she searched files unsuccessfully for a "Francesco Brancato." The record was under the name of "Frank Brancato."

The report should have shown that Brancato had been convicted of perjury.

Lofty, Hard-Earned Place Is Won By Young Dr. Salk

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, his voice hurried and terse, heard today that his six-year battle against the polio virus had won an initial, startling victory.

The 40-year-old University of Pittsburgh scientist had advanced notice of the results of the long-awaited Francis report only hours earlier.

Dr. Salk referred to details of the vaccine report, and then only briefly. He said:

"The way I feel, I can't say anything about that now. I haven't time to talk about the whole thing. After this, there just isn't any time."

His voice was sharp sounding, but the tone was bright. You could almost sense he was fingering his eyeglasses as he stood by the telephone in a University of Michigan residence hall a mile away.

A conscientious, careful - working research man, he had just received a report card from his one-time teacher, Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., University of Michigan epidemiologist. Dr. Francis had given him an "A."

But Dr. Salk's prepared talk needed revision. He had prepared it, the most decisive in his young career, long in advance for delivery—this afternoon. Now he had to work again.

He already had set to improving the vaccine. Children who are vaccinated this year, he had determined, would need only two inoculations, against three for last year's test group. A third shot would be given as a booster in 1956.

Everything that Dr. Salk had done was directed for this one golden moment. For a young man it was a lofty and hard-earned place in the ranks of medicine.

But he couldn't wait. His meeting, he explained, was important. He was sorry. He could talk no longer. He said the information was available in the text of his talk. That was all he could say at the moment. His job, after all, was medicine, not publicity.

WHS Offers Farm Course

Korea Vets Eligible
For New Program

A new on-the-farm training program for Korea War veterans (in service any place during the time of hostilities) is now definitely a part of the Washington C. H. High School service to the community.

While it was approved last month and actually started with 19 enrolled, it was not official until Charles L. McGuff was appointed the instructor by the school board at its regular meeting Monday afternoon.

The course, which is limited to 20 Korea War veterans, is on a 12-month basis and eligible veterans may enroll in March or September. One of the eligibility requirements is 90 days in service with any branch of the armed forces (not necessarily in Korea) and time in service has a bearing on the time of the course.

The course calls for 200 hours

a year off-farm training (mostly classroom) and 100 hours of on-farm training.

That occupied much of the board's time at this meeting, but it did approve withdrawal, at the board's request, of the resignation of Eugene Reaster as a custodian. The board also approved dismissal of classes in the city schools the afternoon of April 29 to permit the teachers to attend the luncheon meeting of the City-County Teachers Association at the Country Club.

A meeting was set for April 19 at which time the board is to go over all teacher contracts for the coming year.

Payments of bills and the regular payroll amounting to $30,065 was authorized.

'Give Children Priority' To Vaccine, Doctor Urges

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—"Give the children priority" in getting the Salk polio vaccine, Dr. Dwight H. Murray, chairman of the American Medical Assn.'s board of trustees, urged today.

Dr. Murray, of Napa, Calif., held announcement of the success of the polio vaccine as "one of the greatest events in the history of medicine."

He urged parents not to rush to doctors' offices for shots for themselves because most adults probably already are immune from earlier, nonrecognized exposures to the disease.

"While doctors who administer the vaccine in their own offices have to pay for it," Dr. Murray said, "there is no reason why any patient has to be denied the vaccine for financial reasons."

Dr. Murray said that many medical societies throughout the country have, with the aid of state and local health officers, worked out orderly plans for the administration of the vaccine. He said: "The American people can be assured that the thousands of practicing physicians in cities, towns and hamlets will give their wholehearted cooperation to get the program under way as effectively and safely as is humanly possible."

Dr. Murray said the family physician can best serve the children.

"After all," he said, "it is the doctor the family always calls who is best qualified to judge whether or not to administer the vaccine; it is the family physician who can spot the individual differences, and it is the family physician who is alert to possible dangers that may exist for children with allergies and other maladies."

Dulles Charged With Boo-Boo In Corsi Case

Firing His 'Old Friend' Seen As Move To Get Along With Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles appeared today to have committed a potentially costly political boo-hoo in the Edward J. Corsi case.

Ironically, he may have been motivated by an eagerness to get along with Democrats in Congress, specifically with Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), who had tangled bitterly with Corsi.

Dulles terminated his "old friend" Corsi's employment as special assistant in charge of speeding immigration of European refugees after Walter said Corsi had once belonged to groups later tagged as subversive. Corsi disputed that. He said his support for liberal immigration policies was responsible for Walter's opposition to him.

Corsi announced yesterday he will not accept a "consolation prize" job offered him by Dulles—that of surveying the possibility of settling some immigrants in Latin America.

CORSI IS A veteran GOP officeholder in New York state. The political implications were pointed up by the public plea of Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall that Corsi continue to serve the Eisenhower team.

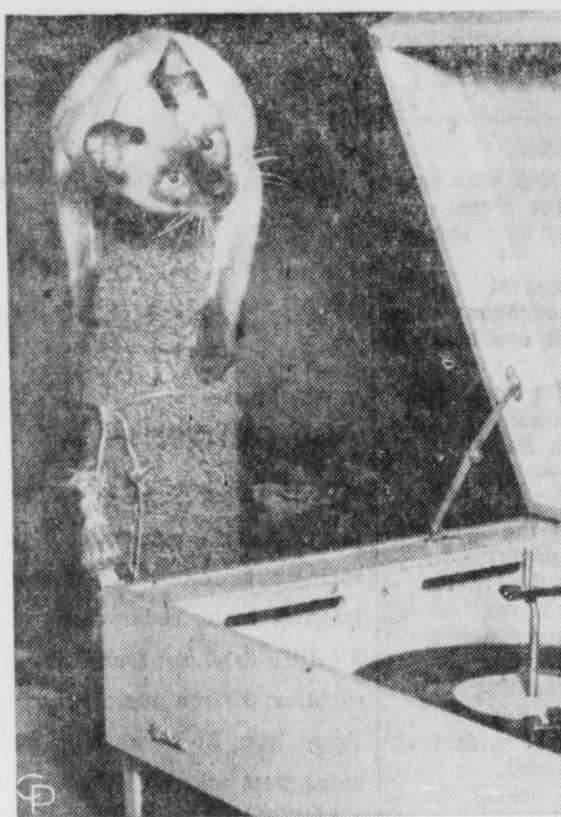

Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York jumped into the matter by saying he had offered Corsi sometime ago a job on the State Refugee Commission.

Arriving in New York from a Florida vacation, Harriman said: "I think it's utterly outrageous and disgraceful, whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, that a man is fired just because someone makes an allegation against him after he has held office for 25 years as a public servant."

In a bitterly worded letter to Dulles rejecting the substitute post, Corsi called the administration's refugee program a "scandalous failure" with fewer than 1,000 admitted to this country in 16 months.

He said it had been sabotaged by "an intolerant minority both in Congress and within the department itself."

"I cannot believe that if Mr. Walter can compel my retirement from the refugee relief program before my work has even begun that similar attacks may not result in a similar unexpected severance from my new assignment," he wrote Dulles. "I have no intention of putting this probability to the test."

He blamed what he called sabotage of the program to admit 214,000 refugees by 1956 on "the people who wrote the law, including Congressman Walter himself, and the people in the State Department who are administering the program."

Security Chief R. W. Scott McLeod handles the program for the department. There was no comment from McLeod.

Government Eyes Polio Shot License

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's decision on whether to license the Salk polio vaccine for general use will be made promptly.

Results of the evaluation of the 1954 nationwide field trials of the vaccine among thousands of children were announced Tuesday.

Officials of the Department of Health and Welfare said they have an observer there who will make his own appraisal as to whether he believes the results justify a recommendation that the vaccine be licensed for general use.

Quail Hunting Is Urged Here

Fish and Game Meet Monday Attracts 40

More than 40 Fayette County fishermen and hunters turned out Monday evening for an open hearing on fish and game laws, and came up with a pair of recommendations on the game bird laws.

The group went on record as being in favor of the bill, currently under consideration of the Ohio House, to remove hunting restrictions on quail and to leave seasons and bag limits up to the Wildlife Council.

The other recommendation made by the group was that the state be divided into two zones for duck hunting, with a later season in the southern part of the state.

Two sportsmen and two farmers were elected to represent the county at the state hearing to be held in Chillicothe. The farmers are Lowell Marvin and Glenn Smith; the sportsmen, Dr. Fred Woolard and Herbert Reese.

THE OPEN meeting was held in the Farm Bureau auditorium right after the regular monthly meeting of the Fish and Game Association. Business of the Association's meeting included announcement by Frank Boylan, the president, that a bill to change present laws on sale and possession of firearms had died in committee in the state Senate.

Irvin Patrick, game protector here told members a nearby creek had been diverted, stranding hundreds of fish in the cut-off section. Members voted to buy a seine to catch the fish so they can be moved to a "live" section of the creek and to assist in the fish-moving job.

The business meeting was cut short to allow the open hearing to begin.

First business of the hearing was a discussion of the bill to end protection of quail. Patrick said that Wildlife Council has made "an extensive study" of the quail situation in the state and "should be qualified to handle the situation well."

Guests at the hearing included Ted Oerholser, law enforcement officer for the state Division of Wildlife, Leon Webb of the game management section and Donald Tennet of the fish management section.

Cancer Society Trustee Is To Speak Here Friday

Dr. Ray M. Turner, a district trustee of the Ohio division of the American Cancer Society, is coming here from his home in Springfield Friday night to tell the Cancer Crusaders something about cancer when they gather in Fellowship Hall of Grace Methodist Church for the "kickoff" meeting of the annual Crusade here.

Dr. Ray M. Turner

This meeting is for all of the nearly 400 crusaders who are to call at every house in the Washington C. H., Fayette County and its villages during the week of April 17-23.

The opening day of the Crusade has been designated as "Cancer Sunday." It is the intention of the Crusaders to complete the canvass of Washington C. H., and the villages on this one day.

Since the population of the county is less concentrated, the Crusade is to continue throughout the week.

Dr. Turner is to tell the workers at the kickoff meeting about the progress being made in cancer research, treatment and education and the need for money with which to carry on this three-day crusade against the dread malady throughout the year.

Dr. Turner is a 1935 graduate of the Ohio State University College of Medicine and has practiced proctology for 17 years. He is a member of the American Medical Association and the Ohio State Medical Association and chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee of the OSMA. Outside the profession he is a Rotarian and a trustee of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce and the Springfield Development Council.

During the Crusade next week, the volunteer workers are to spread information about cancer and the cancer program to every home; they also will solicit the householders for funds to carry on the war against the disease.

One of the things that will be stressed is that if cancer is discovered in the early stages there is a good chance that it can be conquered.

Expert Convinced Aussies Cannot Host '56 Olympics

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—The Olympics boss, Avery Brundage, has come away from Melbourne highly agitated at the lack of preparation for the 1956 games and talking out loud about the possibility of having to change the location at this late date.

From the moment the announcement came that Melbourne had been awarded the great sports festival, we have regarded the choice as the most improbable thing every done by the athletic fraternity, and they have done some dillies.

This feeling is completely apart from the Aussies' failure to get cracking with the physical setup required to conduct the games, though the last time we were there, early in '53, it already was apparent that trouble and delay were in the offing in that respect. Our feeling, rather, has been one of horror at the thought of Melbourne trying to absorb an Olympic crowd, or even the hundreds of newsmen who ordinarily report the event.

Brundage, of course, received the red carpet treatment. Chances are that a hotel suite, with private bath, was waiting for him. We wish our durying day that the austere Chicagoan had just dropped off a plane, taxied into the city and upped to one of the charming lady hotel clerks who

NEW YORK (AP)—"He's no superman. He's got two arms and two legs just like I have. I hope to win the title, otherwise I never would have come here."

That's the way England's Don Cockell sized up his coming title fight with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in San Francisco May 16.

The pudgy, 217-pound British heavyweight boss arrived early yesterday morning from England on the Queen Mary, was the guest of honor at press party at a downtown restaurant and then departed last night for San Francisco. He is due there Friday.

TUESDAY'S STARS
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pitching—Bob Lemon, Cleveland Indians—allowed only five hits, four of them singles, to beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1.
Batting—Ted Lepcio, Boston Red Sox—became first to hit two home runs in one game at Baltimore's spacious Memorial Stadium as Red Sox defeated Orioles 7-1.

Pro Cager Slated To Shun LaSalle

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jim Pollard reportedly will tell LaSalle College officials today that he will not take the school's vacant basketball coaching job.

The post was offered to the 32-year-old forward of the Minneapolis Lakers last week after Ken Loeffler resigned as LaSalle's coach to become coach at Texas A. & M. A Laker spokesman said in New York yesterday he was sure Pollard would have notified the pro club if he had any intention of leaving. It also was reported that Pollard's wife is against the move.

Runaway Boy May Lose Berth

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—If 11-year-old Jack Young doesn't come home soon, he's going to lose his job as catcher on Pasadena's Little League baseball team.

Jed's father, E. G. Young, says the boy ran away Friday to escape punishment for an unauthorized charge account for candy at a grocery store.

"I didn't start worrying about him until he failed to show up for baseball practice," said the father. "He'll have to get back in a hurry to stay on the baseball team."

The heaviest player on the Chicago Cubs' roster is first baseman Steve Bilko who weighs 230 pounds.

Tommy Carroll, 18-year-old Yankee bonus rookie, is the youngest player on the New York roster.

It is now possible for you to increase your soybean yields. Clark soybeans make this possible. Official tests were conducted by Mr. A. H. Probst, U. S. Regional Soybean Laboratory, U. S. D. A. and Agronomy
Dept., Purdue University. Yield comparisons from 1948 through 1954 including 19 different tests in 4 locations, Clark compared to Lincoln, the Clark yielded 46.8 bushels per acre. The Lincoln yielded 39-5 bushels per acre. The Clark stand better than Lincolns and are very easily combined.

The Clark seed I have to offer is certified by the Ohio Seed Improvement Association. For further information, call 41501 or write Frank B. Sollars, R. F. D. 2,

Peony-Flowered Spring Bulb

By DEAN HALUDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

THERE are certain tender bulbous plants which bloom in early summer with rare beauty, yet are seldom seen in home gardens. One of the gayest of these is Ranuncu-lus, especially the newer peonyflowered variety whose large flowers come in vivid colors.

For success with these spring bulbs, "know how" must be used in planting them. The clawshaped bulb should be planted prongs down as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Plant three inches deep, which will leave two inches of soil above the bulb. Space them four to six inches apart.

Before planting, soak the bulbs for 20 minutes in lukewarm water. Good bulbs will swell.

Matinee Races To Be Put on by Lions Club Here

Committees Named
For Event Set For
Fairgrounds Apr. 24

The Washington C. H. Lions Club will again sponsor a matinee race program to be held at the Fairgrounds on Sunday, April 24. This will be the third annual event that has proven to be so popular the previous years.

John Sagar is serving as the general chairman. He will be assisted by Frank Ellis.

At the Tuesday evening meeting held at the Country Club final plans were made to stage the big event. All proceeds will go to the Lions Club sight-saving fund which will aid the needy of this area in eye care.

It was again voted to make a nominal charge for adults at the gate and permit children under 12 years admission free. Parking is free and the only extra expense is the purchase of box seats. The entire grandstand is open with only box seats reserved, and these will only be reserved on a first come first serve basis the day of the race.

Hank Butler and his mobile starting gate from Waverly will be on hand to start each race. The presiding judge will be Carl Weiland from New Carlisle. Both these officials are licensed by the United States Trotting Association and follow their trade through out each racing season at many of the states county fairs and pari-mutuel tracks.

GUESTS AT THE Tuesday night meeting were John Highlander, with Dr. C. R. Griffiths, and Sgt. James H. Estep of the Air Filtering Center Corps from Columbus.

Sgt. Estep was introduced by Omar Schwartz, and explained the important job the Air Force, in cooperation with the Civilian Defense Corps is doing in setting up ground observer posts all over the United States. The units will be operated for the spotting of airplanes every 8 miles in this county, said Sgt. Estep. "It is a big job to find volunteers and to man these stations on a 24-hour basis but we believe it can be done," the speaker said.

Estep declared the use of radar in warning of an attack is good but additional methods of detections are needed because radar, being a mechanical device, is not infallible.

At the conclusion of his talk, he asked the Lions to volunteer their services when needed.

DURING The business part of the meeting Lion President Wayne Bower called on R. B. Tharp, who reported on the sub-district convention to be held in Dayton on Sunday, May 1. Tharp made it clear that the Washington C. H. club would act as the host for this meeting due to the fact that District Governor Don J. Gibson is a member of it. It is hoped that a large number of members here will be at this meeting.

Robert Minshall spoke briefly on his recent visit to the home office of Lions International in Chicago. President Bower then presented his father-in-law, Ray Brandenburg, who spoke as the representative of the Fayette County Automobile Dealers Association. Brandenburg told the group of the week long celebration now in progress by the dealers with the theme "Spotlight on Automobiles." He stressed the important part each dealer and employees play in regard to the economic welfare of the community and the nation as a whole.

William Junk who contributed to the club's fund.

Other committee chairman announced by Sagar to aid in the Matinee Race Program are: entries, Eddie Kirk; admissions, Robert Wise; programs, Luke Musser; finance, Robert Olinger; trophies, Dr. Jim McCoy and Robert Minshall; decorations, Wayne Bower; parking, Ed Vollette; box seats, Will Braun; publicity, Paul Rodenfels; concessions, Dr. C. R. Griffiths and clean-up, John Breiner and Don Gibson.

Clerk of the Course will be Frank Dawson, associate judges, Sagar and Ellis; Timers, Heber Roe, Tom Mark and Robert Shaw.

Highlights of the next club meeting, April 26, will be the induction of new members and a tribute to the past presidents.

Selden Grange Time Changed

Rural Life Sunday
Plans Are Outlined

Opening time for Selden Grange will be a half hour later during the summer months.

Master Kenneth Bush announced at Tuesday night's meeting that, starting with the May meeting, the opening ritual would start at 8:30 P. M. instead of 8 o'clock as it has been during the autumn, winter and spring.

He also announced that the Fifth Degree would be conferred by Greenfield Grange, in the school at Highland, May 5. Highway 28, two miles west of Leesburg.

Fayette County Granges are invited to bring their Fifth Degree candidates to this meeting. To encourage as many as possible to attend this meeting, the master appointed one family from each refreshment committee, to contact the other members of their committee and urge them to take the Fifth Degree if they are not already Pomona Grange members.

The Grangers voted to buy the screen for the movie projector, which has recently been purchased by the Staunton School. They also voted to contribute to the cancer fund, and the crippled children fund.

W. W. Montgomery announced two 4-H Steer Club tours, the first to be on April 16 and the second on April 23.

IT WAS SUGGESTED that Staunton Church be the meeting place, this year in the annual observance of Rural Life Sunday, which will be May 15.

The lecture program was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Matt McDonald. It consisted of a brief history of Arbor Day (April 29 this year) by Anna Alice Frayne and a vocal solo by Maeky McDonald. "The Bell of St. Mary's." Then followed some musical comedy and vaudeville acts by George F. O. Frank Myers and Francis Marion Kennedy. Foy played an electric mandolin, Myers an electric guitar, while Kennedy played anything he could get his hands on, including a fly sprayer. Their humorous stunts really "brought down the house."

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marting, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Buck, Mrs. Martha Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Belt, Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Acton, Frank Colopy, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nisley.

Four More Noise Makers Nabbed

Others Arrested For
Traffic Offenses

Continuing their drive to bring about a reasonable observance of the anti-noise ordinance of the city, police Tuesday and Tuesday night arrested four more truck drivers for permitting the trucks they were driving to make excessive noise.

The officers said they rounded up part of the drivers while their trucks were roaring through the city late at night with apparent no attempt to muffle the noise of the big engines.

All posted $20 for appearance in municipal court and it was expected that, as usual, most of the drivers would forfeit their bonds by not appearing in court.

The four drivers arrested for excessive noise were: Ernest V. Buntana, Lyons, Wis.; Gilbert Lee Lakes, Atlanta, Ga.; Glenn Mastin, Germantown, Ky.; and Harold E. Woods, Rainsville, Ala.

Others facing charges filed Tuesday are:

Beryl Raypole, 52 miles an hour on Highland Avenue;

James H. Perrill, route 1, running red light;

Michael Carpenter, Springfield, running school light;

Robert W. Samuelson, Pittsburgh, running red light;

James McDowell, Parrott, Ky., for passing school bus while it was unloading children. (Charge filed by George Blackmore);

William Hendrix, Pomeroy, running red light;

John O. Neufield, Eugene, Ore., running red light.

Oscar L. McKinney, city, running red light.

Loring Harrop New President

Eber PTO Group
Chooses New Officers

Other officers elected were Mrs. John Warnecke, secretary; Mrs. Willard McClain, treasurer and Mrs. Leonard Slager, reporter. All new officers will begin their duties next September.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Walter Carman, with the group singing "America." Mrs. Charles Wood gave the secretary's report and the treasurer, Mrs. Jack Kellough, said the organization had $263.95 in its coffers. Mrs. Carman expressed thanks to the PTO for sending the officers to the county PTO achievement meeting.

Plans were made to buy a flowering crab tree to plant on the school lawn on Arbor Day. A program for that morning, April 29, is planned by the school. Mrs. Carman also announced that the PTO May Day program will be April 28 under the direction of Mrs. Norman Armbrust.

The refreshment committee for May will be composed of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Harrop; Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick; Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Deskins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pettit, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Warner and Mrs. Thelma Raizk.

Mrs. Russell Giebelhouse was in charge of the evening's program. The first number, "Open Up Your Heart," was sung by Doris Streitenberger, Lorena Harrop, Teddy Tway, Patricia Seyfang, Susan Justice and Joyce Carson. This was followed by a piano solo by Ruby Ater, a song by Dixie and Patty Shiplett, tap dance by Carol Barton, solo by Carolyn Seymore, piano solo by Gregg Thompson, duet by Edwina Dahmer and Karen Carman, magician act by Gene Inderrieden and a group song by Helen Kruger, Linda Dun, Christina Smith, Edwina Dahmer, Dixie Shiplett, Ruby Ater and Karen Carman.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria where tables were decorated with spring flowers.

The committee in charge of the evening's refreshments included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kuebler, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Carville, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Justice, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Slager and Mrs. Emerson Chapman.

Boy Injured When Hit By Bicycle

Michael Paul, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Paul of Lakeview, Avenue, was injured severely at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday, when he was struck by a bicycle ridden by Joe Coulter, 14, while crossing Millwood Avenue.

He was taken in the Gerstner ambulance to Memorial Hospital and given treatment.

Police investigated and were told that Michael had started to cross the street and turned back to avoid an automobile when he was hit by the bicycle.

Contest Postponed

The Good Hope Grange drill district contest has been postponed from Thursday to Wednesday, April 20. It will be held at the new Yellow Springs school.
